

Long Is Defeated In First Skirmish Of Impeachment

Attorney General Rules House Is Not Bound by 1855 Law Cited in Delay Effort

HOUSE PREPARES TO HEAR CHARGES

Test of Strength Shows Louisiana Solons Determined to Investigate All 19 Allegations

Baton Rouge, La., April 2. (AP)—The cloud of legality that today encircled the impeachment proceedings against Governor Huey P. Long was lifted, temporarily at least, tonight and the Louisiana house of representatives agreed to proceed with testimony tomorrow morning.

All day the house argued over procedure, supporters of Long succeeding in holding up the hearing until Attorney-General Percy Saint had submitted a written opinion. This opinion sustained the impeachment leaders and witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear tomorrow to tell what they know of the charges against the governor, including murder plotting and 18 other offenses.

The attorney-general held that the law of 1898 was not applicable to the present impeachment proceedings and that the house of representatives was within its legal rights in adopting its

[illegible]

After the impeachment resolution appeared in the business after the morning hour tomorrow, the taking of testimony to begin then.

Across the hall the state senate also took cognizance of the governor by adoption of resolution, 24 to 8, demanding that Governor Long deny either deny his charges of legislative bribery by the Standard Oil Company or refute his radio speech in which he alleged to have made the accusations.

Meantime Governor Long's followers were making elaborate plans for an all-day mass meeting in the capital building tomorrow when they hope to hold a demonstration to convince legislators that the governor still stands in the favor of the people.

During the rally the governor will deliver a speech in which he expects to explain his position.

Walker P. Inman Quizzed On Friendship for Dancer

Reno, Nev., April 2.—(AP)—Testimony in behalf of Mrs. Helen Garret Patton Inman, at the trial of the contested divorce suit of her husband, Walker P. Inman, of New York, opened in district court here today with the questioning of Inman regarding his alleged intimacy with Juva Marconi, dancer.

Testimony indicated that the dancer had been a visitor at the Reno apartment of Inman, son of Mrs. James B. Duke, widow of the tobacco magnate. The defense attorneys also inquired of a visit to San Francisco on which the plaintiff is said to have accompanied Mrs. Marconi.

On three different occasions today the trial was interrupted while Mrs. Inman, the daughter of an Indiana clergyman, regained her composure. Tears filled her eyes at her sister, Mrs. Irene Schloss, told of the Inmans' marital difficulties.

For more than two weeks the testimony has been devoted to Mrs. Inman's alleged drinking habits and love affairs with John Steele, vaudeville singer, and other men. Inman's attorneys completed their case this morning by calling W. Lee men the possession of four bottles of liquor, but had demanded and had been granted free entry. When the reports first were published, Mr. Morgan emphatically denied the whole story, and said he had never had a drink in his life.

During the investigation the United States attorney called seven customs men to his office for questioning. Admission by Morgan.

Inspector Louis E. Crawford, who made the original charges against Mr. Morgan, today said he had told Mr. Tuttle that Mr. Morgan had freely admitted having the liquor in his baggage, and that he had so reported to the collector of the port. Mr. Tuttle said he understood all of the reports of the customs agents on the case had been forwarded to Washington.

Mr. Tuttle said that on the congressman's assertion that he had been in Panama on an official mission he was granted free entry and none of his baggage was opened. No bottles of liquor being "found, handled or seen" by the customs men.

"The statements of all the customs officers," Tuttle said, "come down to a talk between themselves and Mr. Morgan."

Informed of Tuttle's findings in Washington, Congressman Morgan said they were correct and corroborated the statement that his baggage had not been searched. From the first publication of rumors that he had brought liquor into the country, the congressman had emphatically denied the truth of the whole story. He is an ardent dry and voted for the Jones law.

Statements Offered.

Tuttle said the written statements of customs officials he questioned would be sent to Washington, and the impression was general at the federal building that the incident was officially closed here. The federal attorney issued his statement, he said, only to correct erroneous ideas which had gained currency and declined to make any other comment on the case, at least until further study of the written reports.

DISCOURTESY DENIED IN YACHT SEARCH.

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Officials of the customs enforcement bureau acknowledged today that Stuyvesant Fish's yacht "Restless" had been searched and searched for liquor by an inspector from a customs patrol boat, but denied there had been any discourtesy.

Fish, a wealthy sportsman and broker, complained to Washington that men he believed to be members of the coast guard halted his yacht near the Statue of Liberty by firing their revolvers and then one man pointed their pistols at Fish and his family.

At first the coast guard, the customs and the marine police all denied knowledge of the incident but shortly after Rear Admiral Billard, of the coast guard arrived from Washington to make an investigation the customs bureau announced that it had been learned a customs boat had been the one to stop the yacht.

Deputy Collector of Customs McGill, who made the announcement, said pistols were fired in the air when Fish failed to stop on a whistled signal, but that after that there was no gun display. He said the boat was stopped because it was a new boat in the harbor and a fast craft such as is sometimes used to run liquor.

McGill said Fish showed no displeasure during the search and exchanged courtesies with the inspector who searched the boat and after finding nothing permitted the "Restless" to proceed.

I'M ALONE REPORTS
SENT TO WASHINGTON.

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Full detailed reports of the sinking of the Canadian run-boat I'm Alone in the Gulf of Mexico by a coast guard patrol boat are now in the hands of the state department.

A report of the department of justice, covering its investigations of the case and the legal points relating to the matter, has been turned over to Secretary of State Stimson by Attorney-General Mitchell.

Since only meager preliminary details in the case were turned over to the Canadian legation by the state department after the Canadian minister, Vincent Massey, had asked for particulars of the sinking, it is expected that more complete reports will be forwarded immediately to the legation from the more extensive material the state department now has available.

Aside from the actual communication of this material to the Canadian legation, the next formal move in the case is expected to come from the Canadians. The Canadian cabinet will probably discuss the situation before instructing the legation here to take further steps.

The case, so far as the American government is concerned, is being handled directly by Secretary Stimson himself.

Whether the Canadian government will press the case to the point of protesting the sinking is still open. The state department has declined to comment on whether the legal aspects of the case as set forth by the attorney-general justify any change in the American policy to conform more with the unofficial Canadian attitude that the sinking might have been a breach of international law.

Since there have been many questions raised on interpretation of the anti-run smuggling treaty of 1924 between the United States and Great Britain since the I'm Alone was sunk, there is a distinct feeling here that the matter of the treaty should be thoroughly thrashed out to determine definitely just what the treaty does cover. Should the case be pressed by the Canadians, it appears probable that the opportunity would be seized by both countries to settle various points in question in connection with the treaty.

CAPTAIN RANDALL TO ENTER MOVIES.

New Orleans, La., April 2.—(United News.)—Captain John Thomas Randall, skipper of the sunken run-boat I'm Alone, is through with liquor smuggling for all time and will enter motion pictures, he said today.

"I will remain here for a few days," he said, "to complete arrangements with a motion picture company to take command of a 'floating studio' which will cruise through the Caribbean to make nature films." Captain Randall was confident conspiracy charges against himself and his crew of seven would be dismissed when a preliminary hearing scheduled for next Thursday is held.

After signing the movie making contract he intends to go to Washington to confer with officials of the Canadian legation. From Washington he plans to go to Montreal to report to the owners of the I'm Alone and to visit his family.

Brigadier-General Frank H. Cochen, in command of United States troops on the border, arrived here from El Paso, Texas, and immediately announced his intention of conferring with General Fausto Topete, rebel military chief in the state of Sonora. General Cochen would not discuss the nature of the representations he intended to make to the rebel general, but it was intimated he might give a warning that rebel planes crossing the border and endangering American lives would be fired on.

While General Cochen prepared to go into Mexico through the rebel port of Agua Prieta, Sonora, Major Charles B. Hazeltine, commanding a detachment of United States infantry here, conferred with civil officials to keep sightseers out of the danger zones.

699 Suitors And "ALASKA LUNCH" One Hubby Are PRIZE-WINNING Many Too Many SALMON RECIPE

Chicago, April 2.—(AP)—When Ole A. Lee, a janitor by trade, read and in the matrimonial paper about the shy little 22-year-old red-headed girl, all alone and oh, so lonesome, it almost made him cry.

He was still on the verge of tears when he faced her today in Judge Joseph L. McCarthy's courtroom.

For one reason, she had her husband with her.

For another reason, Lee explained to the court, he advanced her $900 in $100 installments to pay for a trousseau that never graced his march to the altar.

And for still a third reason, he explained, he discovered too late that exactly 699 other men had read the ad and were in the field as rivals.

So yesterday he led a raid on her flat and had both Mrs. Helen Goodrich and her husband arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

Judge McCarthy continued the case until next Monday to decide what, if anything, to do about it.

Here's a new prize salmon recipe. A Seattle (Wash.) newspaper offered a prize of a case of the finest pink salmon for the most unique and appetizing recipe for a pink salmon dish. The prize was won by Mrs. F. Hooper, of Seattle, which city is the "Salmon Capital of America." Mrs. Hooper calls her dish the "Alaska Lunch" because most of the canned salmon for America's table comes from the icy waters of Alaska and the north Pacific. Here is Mrs. Hooper's recipe:

1. Three layers raw potatoes sliced very thin.
2. Add a good layer of flaked canned pink salmon.
3. A layer of green peas (all of a 35c can).
4. Three layers of potatoes sliced very thin.
5. Another good layer broken canned pink salmon.
6. Then a cup of ground carrots and one chopped onion mixed.
7. Add a little pepper to each layer.
8. Mix thoroughly and heat 1-4 cup juice from the peas, 1-2 cup juice from the salmon, 1 cup milk, 1 well-beaten egg, then add 2-3 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon melted butter. Pour slowly over all and make in moderate oven 30 minutes.
9. Cover with a sprinkle of cracker crumbs and let brown quickly. Serve with hot cream sauce.

EMORY CLUB TO GIVE RECITAL HERE TODAY

College Entertainers Will Appear at Atlanta Woman's Club.

Presenting a diversified program, the Emory University Glee Club and Orchestra will be heard in its annual Atlanta recital at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club as the seventh in the morning musical series of the Atlanta Music Club.

In view of the specially prepared program, a part of which has been arranged especially for the music club, officials of the group have extended invitation to all members of the Woman's Club and to the faculty and students of Emory university to be guests of the club at the recital.

The recital will be presented in two parts, the first a program entirely by the orchestra and the latter part a group of favorite songs of the glee club which will feature the ever-popular negro spirituals. Presentation is in charge of Miss Nanna Tucker, chairman for the morning musical series of the music club.

NO ACTION PLANNED AGAINST SNOOK

Action of Snook to seek the indictment of all federal officials involved in planning William Lacey and E. J. Lacey, department operatives, in Snook's institution as bona fide prisoners.

Legal authorities hold that Snook could demand their indictment and that the assistant attorney-general would be culpable on the theory that she entered into a conspiracy to falsify government documents.

Clash Over Parole.

The former warden, who relinquished his post Sunday night at the request of the department, declared Tuesday that the original breach between himself and the assistant attorney-general was predicated on his failure to comply with her wishes regarding the parole of certain prisoners in prohibition cases.

"Mrs. Willebrandt wished to reward certain informers who were in the prison by having them paroled, and when the Atlanta parole board failed to agree with her she began finding fault with the administration," Mr. Snook stated.

"I felt that the recommendations for parole of the prisoners should be a matter of my judgment and my conscience and not dictated by my superiors, although I endeavored to comply as far as possible with her views. I never failed to receive and execute administrative orders from the department."

Mr. Aderhold, Bretnman and Clint W. Hager, district attorney of the northern federal district of Georgia, all remained silent concerning the reported pending indictment of Snook.

The federal grand jury met Tuesday, but as far as could be learned nothing concerning the matter was submitted to it or considered by it.

Thus far only five of the "key" men in the prison have been changed from their former posts, but it has been indicated that other shifts will be made as the probe continues.

There are 108 employees at the institution with 127 of that number assigned to the disciplinary force consisting of guards and officers.

Instructions to Bretnman.

On March 30, over long distance telephone, instructions were given to C. E. Bretnman, the woman assistant attorney-general's personal representative, and to A. C. Aderhold, deputy warden, who is acting warden until Snook's successor is named.

"I want certain officers and guards placed on the wall," Mr. Wilcox

(Thomas C. Wilcox, a special department agent who figured in the planning of Lacey and Lacey, agents, as bona fide prisoners in the prison) will give you their names," she declared.

Bretnman communicated with Wilcox from the deputy warden's residence at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on the same date and got his instructions and the changes which have been made were in accordance with the orders passed down by the woman assistant, according to the information source.

Bretnman Questioned.

During the same conversation, Mrs. Willebrandt asked Bretnman if he received the copy of the message directing Snook not to take records or copies of them from the prison when he left and reprimanding him for permitting newspapermen to inspect the prison in search for the "clit, dope and disease" on which she said she predicated the demand for Snook's resignation.

"Did you get my telegram," she asked Bretnman.

"I got a telegram signed by Mitchell," Bretnman said.

"I sent it," she retorted emphasizing the "I."

It also was learned that Snook advised Aderhold against shifting officers and guards, declaring that the men were assigned to the posts at which they could work to the best advantage and to the best interests of the institution.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, April 2.—In the face of consistent reports to the contrary, Attorney-General Mitchell today entered a formal denial of charges that additional department of justice agents have been sent to the Atlanta federal penitentiary recently for a further investigation of the record of former Warden John W. Snook.

The attorney-general not only denied that department agents have been sent to Atlanta, but declared also that no court action is contemplated against Snook.

Press dispatches from Atlanta during the past three days have carried reports that several department of justice men were on the scene prepared to make an investigation of Snook's management of prison affairs coincident with his forced retirement on April 1. During the same period, rumors have been current both here and in Atlanta that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney-general, in charge of federal penal institutions and long at odds with the former warden over the department's espionage system, was considering plans for having him indicted.

Bretnman at Pen.

Among others it had been reported positively in Atlanta that C. E. Bretnman, special agent of the department, was at the penitentiary as Mrs. Willebrandt's personal representative and was quartered in the home of Deputy Warden A. C. Aderhold, acting as warden pending the appointment of Snook's successor.

Despite these and other consistent reports, the attorney-general this afternoon issued a broad denial that left newspaper correspondents wondering whether he was actually informed on the case.

The belief is held in some quarters that he in fact did not know of the additional department operatives being sent to Atlanta and therefore his denials were made in good faith. As the official in charge of penal institutions Mrs. Willebrandt is believed to have ordered the under-cover men to Atlanta without telling him, just as she is believed to have ordered Snook's resignation on her own authority without informing Mr. Mitchell until after the act was done.

The woman assistant has declined to discuss reports of additional agents being on the scene, a fact which suggests her full knowledge of their presence. She did deny, however, having knowledge of the reported shake-up in the prison official personnel, although later reports from Atlanta tonight have it that she discussed the shake-up with Deputy Warden Aderhold in a long distance telephone conversation before it was accomplished.

Integrity Not Involved.

Mr. Mitchell was authority for the statement today that the former warden, so far as he knew, was guilty of no indictable offense. He added while Snook's management of the institution had been criticized by the department, nothing had been shown to involve his integrity. He even expressed the view that the former warden could not be prosecuted on charges reported under consideration by Mrs. Willebrandt that disease and narcotics were allowed to creep into the prison during his administration.

Although Mrs. Willebrandt has declined to say whether she planned to initiate court proceedings against the former prison official, informed circles here have never believed that she seriously considered such a course. It is felt, rather, that she adopted this non-committal attitude in an effort to forestall any action which Snook might take towards demanding an indictment of all federal officials involved in the planning of department undercover men in his penitentiary under false commitment papers.

Carnival Staged For Columbian Building Fund

The "Whoopie" was inaugurated Tuesday night with a brilliant program and a large attendance.

The affair is a unique carnival for the benefit of the Columbian building fund, and will continue in progress at the corner of Auburn avenue and Pryor street until April 6.

The spacious hall is filled with unique entertainment features and attractive booths, which were crowded with visitors the opening night.

Special programs have been arranged for each night, and Lewis Gordon and Charles Gavan, who are the grand "whoopies," promise that there will not be a dull moment.

Many useful and desirable prizes have been provided by friends of the organization, adding to the interest of the occasion.

CHARLES M. FORD IS URGED TO RUN FOR COUNCIL SEAT

More than 200 citizens of the tenth ward Tuesday night held a rally at the Stewart Avenue school and urged former Alderman Charles M. Ford to offer for the councilman post now held by Nelson Spatt.

Following the meeting a committee composed of E. L. Fowler, chairman; John C. Shannon, vice chairman; and D. W. Watson called on Mr. Ford and urged him to make the race. He declared he would take the matter under advisement and will make his decision within a few days.

Among those who made talks at the session were A. F. Todd, Tom Goodlin, C. A. Pounds, W. H. Foster, E. Acres, Dr. N. W. Adams, J. G. Simpson, J. P. Berry, O. W. Beattie, F. B. Head, H. P. Tyson, J. E. Peck, J. H. Dwight, Roy Dickey, J. B. McFadden, Sam Cohen, Dr. J. B. Speck and N. W. Phillips.

12 HELD IN DRIVE AGAINST SPEEDING IN ANSLEY PARK

Following assignment of two motorcycle officers Tuesday to Ansley Park to stop speeding through the playground and park section, 12 arrests were made from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight by Motorcycle Officers T. J. Smith and F. O. Bishop, acting under direction of Lieutenant Jack Malcolm, traffic chief.

Residents of Ansley Park called attention of the traffic squad of the police department to the particular hazards attendant to the narrow, winding streets of the section, which are in continual use during the afternoon by scores of children going to and from playgrounds.

Many of the streets are sloping and curved sharply, so that motorists have a habit of coasting at an excessive rate of speed down the inclines, it was said. Autoists are limited by city ordinance to 15 miles per hour in this section.

Organization of the Southern Airways Association for the promotion of a transcontinental aerial highway and the development of airports along its route was effected in Columbus Tuesday by representatives from eight cities located in five states. J. Ralston Carrell, of Columbus, was elected president, and was authorized to appoint seven vice presidents, one from each state through which the proposed route would pass. Lincoln McConnell, of Macon, was named secretary of the association.

The meeting in Columbus was sponsored jointly by the chambers of commerce of the cities.

Reduction and simplification of air mail rates to Cuba, the Bahamas, Haiti, Dominican Republic and to and beyond the Canal Zone has been announced by the postoffice department in conformity to the policy of making air mail postage rates cover ordinary postage as well. The rates to Cuba and the Bahamas now are five cents for each half ounce or fraction. That to Haiti and the Dominican Republic now is ten cents for each half ounce or fraction. Twenty-five cents for each half ounce or fraction is charged for air mail to the Canal Zone and by steamer to points beyond.

Five Dollar Bill Found in Gills of Big Mackerel

Edgewater Park, Miss., April 2.—(AP)—Here is the first fish story of the season in these parts.

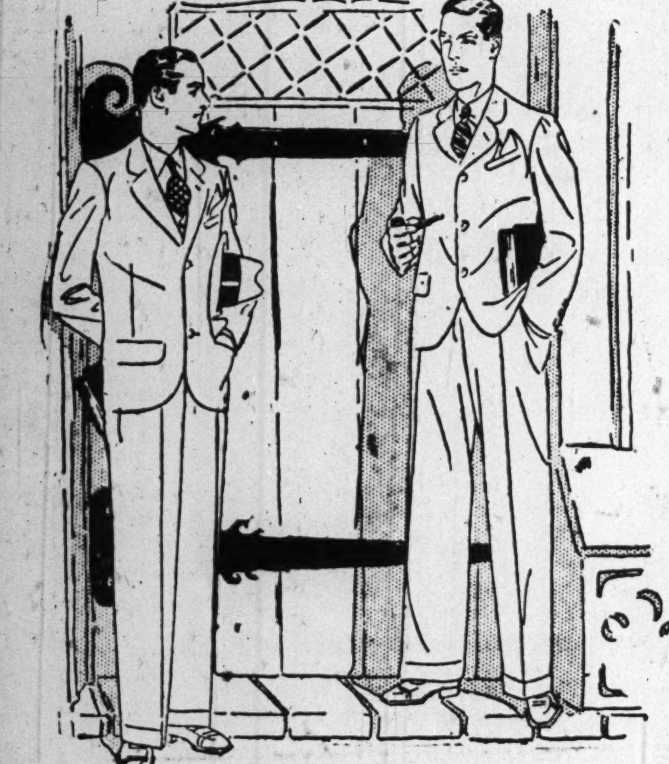

Frank Gilbert, one of the chefs at a local hotel, caught a Spanish mackerel off the Mississippi gulf coast, and while cleaning it for his lunch found a $5 bill entangled in the fish gills.

LINDY FLIES AGAIN OVER BATTLEFIELD TO VISIT FIANCEE

Mexico City, April 2.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh tonight was at the United States embassy with the family of his fiancée, Miss Anne S. Morrow. It was reported to be only a brief visit, two days, but the public that followed his rapid flight from California hoped that it would result in the naming of the day and place of the wedding.

The aviator left California yesterday and with the briefest possible stop in Texas sped on to his second meeting with Miss Morrow here since their engagement was announced. Colonel Lindbergh covered the 475 miles from Brownsville in five hours. "Hello," said Anne.

"How are you?" responded the colonel.

WHAT PRICE-CLASS?

UNFORTUNATELY people have grouped cars into "price-classes." There is the "$1000 price-class," the "$1500 price-class," the "$2000 price-class," and so on.

This informal classification is a misleading and harmful one. It lays entirely too much emphasis on the relatively unimportant first cost of any car and none on the very important cost of ownership and use.

The important thing to consider in buying a car is the cost of owning—not the cost of buying.

Paying for a Packard Without Owning One!

There are literally tens of thousands of people who delude themselves about what they can and cannot afford in motor cars. They are sure they cannot buy a car costing over a certain sum. Their habits of thought have become pigeon-holed in a "price-class."

We know that these good people delude themselves because we have already convinced thousands just like them that they were wrong. That is where Packard's enormously expanding business is coming from—from those who have always wanted Packard but just recently learned they could own them at no extra cost.

If you have been in the habit of paying ten or twelve hundred dollars or more for your motor cars, then you are probably in the Packard "price-class" without knowing it. You are very likely paying for a Packard without owning one!

It can be demonstrated to you that you may own and drive a Packard Eight at no greater cost, over a period of four or five years, than the expense of owning your present "price-class" car.

Most of the items of cost in operating a car are the same as between a Packard Eight and any car down to half the cost of a Packard. Garage cost is the same. A wash and polish cost is the same. Gasoline and tires substantially the same. Repairs cost no more because of the quality of the car and its lubrication protection. And if you will use even half the mileage we build into your Packard your depreciation charge will be so low that the saving will completely offset the original cost difference.

Most of our owners keep their Packards twice as long as they ever kept other makes of cars. We know because we get nearly all of the Packards back—when they are turned in on new Packards. These owners drive their Packards at no extra charge!

The Packard Eight Has No Price-Class

The Packard Eight is not in a "price-class." We build it as well as a motor car can be built. No finer car is built in the world today. We build it to last. And we price it fairly for the value we give. For example, the Packard Standard Eight 5-passenger Sedan costs $2275 at the factory.

Then we protect the investment of our owners. No radical changes have depreciated Packard cars from year to year. Our owners keep their Packards—and enjoy keeping them—twice as long as they have been in the habit of keeping cars built to sell in any certain price bracket.

If you want a Packard Eight—buy one! You may buy it on time—and there is no better investment. Then keep it and enjoy its beauty, its comfort and its luxury for three or four times the payment period.

Remember you are very probably paying for a Packard no matter what car costing over $1000 you may be driving. Our Packard salesman everywhere have the facts and will gladly give them to you.

You can own a Packard.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

SEARCH OF HIS YACHT IRKS STUYVESANT FISH

Alleges Abusive and High-Handed Measures Were Used.

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Customs officials announced today that it was a patrol boat of the customs enforcement bureau that halted Stuyvesant Fish's yacht Restless near the Statue of Liberty Saturday to search it for liquor.

Fish, a wealthy broker and sportsman, had complained to Washington that the search had been conducted in a high-handed and abusive manner, with several men pointing revolvers at him and his family while another searched the yacht. No liquor was found and the yacht was allowed to proceed after Fish said the man who made the search told him he was rocky a machine gun had not been turned loose on the Restless for failing to obey more quickly the order to stop.

Fish believed the boarding craft to belong to the coast guard but when his complaint was first made public officials of the coast guard, customs patrol and marine police all said no report of any such search had been made.

Later, however, William S. Conrow, in charge of the customs enforcement bureau, said he had information leading him to believe that a customs boat had made the search.

Shortly after that Conrow's assistant, J. H. McGill, announced that this fact had been definitely established but denied that any abusive methods had been employed.

HAMILTON FISH CALLS SEARCH "STUPID BLUNDER."

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Describing the searching of the private yacht of his cousin, Stuyvesant Fish, by prohibition enforcement agents off New York as an "alleged stupid blunder," Representative Hamilton Fish, republican, New York, declared today that the government official responsible for the act should be severely reprimanded.

Mr. Fish, however, said he intended to wait until he had seen an official report of the affair before he decided whether to ask for an investigation.

"Revenue or coast guard officials," Mr. Fish said, "owe a duty to the public not to interfere with private vessels engaged in legitimate business or for pleasure unless there is substantial evidence of actual or attempted violation of law."

"It is utterly preposterous to permit the boarding and searching of private yachts by government officials merely on suspicion any more than allowing prohibition agents to break into a private home."

"The government official responsible for such an alleged stupid blunder should be severely reprimanded and the use of armed force in this instance only aggravate the offense."

"If our enforcement agents would only apply the same zeal to the searching and seizure of known rum-runners and smugglers there would be real enforcement of the liquor laws."

State Federated Garden Clubs To Convene Today at Augusta

Augusta, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Two hundred delegates representing 98 clubs in the state are expected here tomorrow for the opening session of the first annual convention of the Federated Garden Clubs of Georgia. The convention will continue through Thursday.

The state garden club, a combination of numerous garden clubs of that city, president of the Peachtree Garden Club. The program of the organization, which has been carried out through co-operative effort, has included the promotion of general interest in gardens, highway beautification and an educational campaign against signboards which obstruct natural scenic beauty.

The business sessions will be presided over by Mrs. Phinix Calhoun of Atlanta, state president. Mrs. Cooney will make an address before the club and other speakers at the convention will be Dr. T. H. McIlhatton, state horticulturist, Athens; Samuel Tate, of the state highway department; Dr. Neitzke, nationally known horticulturist, was killed, and his wife, two children and four step-children were seriously injured today, when their automobile dropped into a washout at the Parker bridge, ten miles from route here from Columbus. He was unaware of the washout and saw no warning of the impassable condition on the side of the bridge from which he approached.

ATHENS COUNCILMAN INDICTED FOR ATTACK

Athens, Ga., April 2.—(Special).—Councilman Vincent Matthews was indicted by the Clarke county grand jury today for assault and battery on Dan Magill, writer for the Athens Banner-Herald, because of the latter's article last week criticizing "politics" with the board of education of which Matthews is a member.

Councilman Matthews is charged with waylaying Magill on a downtown street and attacking him, beating and choking him.

MAYOR OF ATLANTA INVITED TO ATTEND TRADE CONVENTION

Many Prohibition Violations Charged.

A total of 31 true bills was returned by the federal grand jury in session here Tuesday. Most of the indictments were for alleged violations of the prohibition laws, although a number of narcotic cases were included.

RICH SOCIETY MAN FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Coroner's Jury Awaits Finding of Autopsy Before Reporting.

Palm Beach, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—A. Homeyer Pierson, Jr., wealthy society man of Palm Beach and Glenn Ridge, N. J., was found dead in a room at his private estate, Manatlan, near Boynton Beach, early today, it was learned from authorities shortly after noon.

The body was found by a nurse in the Pierson home, who summoned a physician. Three other doctors later were called, but found no cause of death. County Judge R. I. Robbins was notified of the death and he, together with several deputies, took a coroner's jury to Pierson's estate where an inquest was held.

The nurse, whose name was not made public, testified at the inquest, but authorities said afterward they were not satisfied with her testimony and an autopsy was ordered.

Newspapermen were barred from the inquest and autopsy and it was not known at first what transpired there.

After the inquest was concluded, however, and before the autopsy was held, authorities made public some of the details of testimony presented to the coroner's jury.

They said the nurse, the chief witness, testified that Pierson had been under the influence of liquor late last night, and had fallen on the floor of his room. She said she and Pierson attempted to carry him to a bed, but were unsuccessful, and that Pierson put a pillow under his head and told her to "let him lay there until he sleeps it off," officers quoted the nurse as saying.

The nurse testified that Mrs. Pierson told her that it was "not unusual" for Pierson to be under the influence of liquor and for her not to worry, according to authorities.

In further testimony the nurse stated that she went to Pierson's room about 1 o'clock this morning and found him apparently in a deep sleep. She said he was breathing. When she returned to his room about 5 o'clock, she said, he was not breathing, and that, becoming frightened, she summoned a doctor.

When the physician arrived he attempted for an hour to revive Pierson, but failed, the nurse said, and then summoned three other doctors. Another effort was made to revive Pierson, but he was dead.

Late this afternoon it became known that the nurse had testified before the coroner's jury that she had overheard a quarrel between Pierson and his wife in Mrs. Pierson's room late last night.

Mrs. Pierson later took the stand and verified the nurse's statement, saying that she and her husband had argued for about an hour, and that finally she persuaded him to go to his room. Mrs. Pierson testified that her husband was drunk and that when he entered his own room he stumbled and fell.

The coroner's jury then recessed until it could receive a report on the autopsy.

"Why," you ask "is Merita better than any other bread?"

Well here is the "why" in six simple logical reasons.

1. Merita is better because it is richer.

2. Because it contains only the very best and purest ingredients.

3. Because every ingredient is laboratory tested for purity, nutritive value and high quality before it ever enters into the baking of Merita Bread.

4. Because Merita is scientifically blended, properly and evenly baked by master bakers of years of experience.

5. Because of its extra "goodness" in satisfying flavor, and health-building qualities.

6. Because it slices better and stays fresh longer than ordinary bread.

So, it is logical to believe that if Merita tastes better, slices better and gives better health — it surely must be a better bread. Test it yourself — with any other bread. . . then you'll know Merita is a better bread.

GA. MILITARY COLLEGE
HOMECOMING IN MAY

Big Event Will Mark 50th Anniversary of Noted Institution.

Milledgeville, Ga., April 2.—(Special.)—Plans are under way here for a gigantic homecoming celebration which will mark the 50th anniversary of the Georgia Military College. The college is situated in the old capital at Milledgeville, which was the center of the state's political activities for 65 years.

The homecoming will be held during the last two days of commencement, which will be about the last of May. Every former student of the school will be sent an invitation to return and participate in the 50th anniversary program. This will include many of the south's prominent men.

President R. H. Wooten, of the Milledgeville Chamber of Commerce will be in charge of the plans for the occasion. The following committees have been appointed to work out the program.

Invitations—J. N. Moore, J. T. Andrews, J. W. Riley, H. S. Wooten and Dr. Sam Anderson.
Finance—J. M. Conn, Dr. Dawson Allen, R. H. Wooten and L. C. Hall.
Orators—Marion Allen F. Bell, E. R. Hines and Charles Whitfield.
Barbecue—L. H. Andrews, Collier Kild, J. C. Ingram, Adrian Horne, Mrs. R. B. Moore, Mrs. David Ferguson and Mrs. Clarence Wall.
Amusements—Dr. T. M. Hall, E. Sibley and Heindel Mobley.
Receptions and Homes—Mrs. J. C. Ingram, Mrs. Steve Thompson, J. F. Andrews, J. H. Ennis, P. N. Bivins, M. F. Stenbridge, Ed Bell Jackson, J. W. Riley and R. B. Moore.

Vegetables
An Important
Commodity
on the L&N

In 1927 the movement of perishables over the L. & N. Railroad, excluding tropical fruits, amounted to over 15,000 cars. Practically all originated in the Road's territory. Of this movement, 1,000 cars were vegetables shipped from great producing districts in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Northwest Florida, Louisiana, and the three coast counties of Mississippi. One-third of these were shipped from localities which, a few years ago, were practically unsettled and whose settlement by people from outside the South has been actively encouraged and assisted by agents of this railroad. For the four years, including 1927, there was an annual average increase of 1,100 cars in the carload movement of vegetables and other perishables from points on the L. & N. lines.

This increase has been largely due to three things: An increase of growers due to location of new settlers, diversification of crops, and increased crop yields through the use of better seeds, better cultivation, and more scientific fertilization. L. & N. agents have assisted in promoting all this.

They have helped the new settler find a desirable location in the South, aided him with advice and demonstration in cultivating soil new to him, have seen that he chooses the right variety and quality of seed, instructed him regarding fertilizer and often helped him solve his harvesting, packing, and marketing problems. Their aim has been to improve the grower's product, yield, and return.

The early Irish potato is one of the South's principal truck crops. An L. & N. agricultural agent, an expert on potato growing, each fall visits Northern and Western districts from which seed potato shipments are made, and goes into the fields to select those from which shipments are to be made to points in the L. & N. territory.

Vegetable shipments from L. & N. territory are rapidly increasing. From one of the Gulf Coast counties the first movement of green corn was 16 cars in 1923. Last year it was about 200 cars. The cabbage movement last year was 940 cars against 680 in 1924. Strawberries in the same time increased from 1,567 to 2,300 carloads.

Transporting passengers and freight are not the only duties of a great railroad system, and its obligations to the public it serves are fully recognized by the L. & N. Railroad.

100 Georgia Tech
Students Receive
Awards Today

Five Atlanta boys are to receive the highest awards at honor day exercises of Georgia Tech this morning, when more than 100 lesser honors are to be given for scholastic rating for the past three years. Dr. David Marx, of Atlanta, will make the honor day address.

The Atlanta boys receiving awards, cups and scholarship keys, are W. J. Martin, two textile awards; medal for American Institute of Architects to J. M. Lowe; cup to H. Reedlows; Alpha Kappa Psi key to Burton Cloud, and Alpha Delta Sigma key to J. B. Duke.

Others receiving cups and awards are W. O. Simpkins, Philadelphia, Pa.; C. Bosworth, Dayton, Ohio; F. O. Waddy, Memphis, Tenn.; G. E. Hall, Macon. More than 50 other Atlanta boys are included in other honors given.

The exercises are to be in the school auditorium, beginning at 9 o'clock. Classes from 9 to 11 o'clock are dismissed for the honor day program.

Seniors who were elected to Tau Beta Pi for best in engineering, for 1929, were: F. W. Green, G. H. Lewis, J. M. Lowe, C. E. Hightman, H. S. Morton, J. W. Ross, S. R. Smith, J. M. Tranter and J. L. Ward. Student members elected to Beta Gamma Sigma for best in commerce, for 1928-1929, were: R. P. Dieckman, W. J. Simpkins, J. P. Napier, C. P. Bagley and G. E. Powell.

Students who won the "Gold T" for an average above 83 for three years were: J. V. Allen, K. H. Anderson, C. P. Bagley, H. W. Beers, B. L. Brown, J. P. Campbell, J. R. Carnes, R. P. Crenshaw, W. T. SOIL IS SURVEYED
IN LAMAR COUNTY
BY FARM BOARD

The United States department of agriculture has announced the results of a soil survey of Lamar county, Georgia, conducted in cooperation with the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

The agriculture of Lamar county, according to this report, consists mainly of production of cotton. Corn, oats, wheat, hay, pork and beef are also produced, it said, but not in sufficient quantities to supply local markets. Several large peach groves are in the county and this industry is on the increase in favor with the farmers.

PLANS ARE MADE TO INCREASE QUAIL
IN SOUTH GEORGIA

Officials of the United States biological survey have been conducting a study of quail conditions in south Georgia and northern Florida, following contributions by prominent men toward plans for increasing the quail supply in these two sections. It was understood that the group contributors gave more than $40,000 for this study of the quail, its habits, migrations, diseases, propagation and enemies.

Comment on observations made developed that more than a promise of increased supply has been accomplished.

HOOVER WANTS G. O. P.
IN S. C. TO CLEAN UP

Expects Party Leaders To Remove Alleged Patronage Abuses.

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—President Hoover is looking to republican leaders of South Carolina to remove patronage abuses which have come to light in some sections of the state by reorganization, and meanwhile no particular faction of the party there will be given either special consideration or recognition by the administration.

As the chief executive sees it, some of the federal departments, particularly the postoffice, have been misled in the past in recommendations for appointment to government offices in South Carolina and in Georgia and Mississippi as well.

The condition, he has said, makes it impossible for the old republican organizations in those states to command the confidence of the administration, although this feeling does not include many individual members of the party organization.

Denouncing patronage abuses as "intolerable to public service and repugnant to the ideals and purposes of the republican party," Mr. Hoover has determined that they must stop and to this end he has called for a reorganization and offered the hearty co-operation of the administration. He hoped the both rank and file and leaders of the party in these states may effect this reorganization through their own efforts, but he has issued a warning that unless it is brought about the "federal departments will be compelled to adopt other methods to take effect on the selection of federal employees." This announced attitude of the administration has been described as a first step toward the closest possible scrutiny of all persons recommended for appointment with respect to their qualifications for office.

Party regularity, it has been said, will not be the sole standard by which applicants are judged. At the same time it has been stated that this is not to be construed as meaning that the administration will not honor party obligations where the men concerned are considered fit for public office.

Copy of Courthouse
Survey Is Requested
By League of Voters

A request for a copy of the survey of conditions at the Fulton county courthouse, reported to the league as having been made during 1928 by Respass and Respass, public accountants will be made today at the monthly meeting of the county commission by the Atlanta League of Women Voters, under a resolution adopted by the directors of the league, according to an announcement Tuesday by Mrs. Alfred Bailey, president.

Mrs. Bailey said that copies of the resolution have been sent to Paul Etheridge, chairman of the commission, and to Henry M. Wood, clerk of the commission. The resolution adopted by the league's directors sets out that the league has sponsored a survey of conditions at the courthouse for several years, and that the board has not been able to obtain a copy of the 1928 survey "for no reason which seems adequate to the board." The resolutions state that "it is reported that $6,000, then $8,000, and now $10,000 was spent for this survey," and declare that "no matter what the survey contains, it is the right of the taxpayers to see it."

Hazel Hughes Fund Passes
$1,000 in Education Drive

The response to the appeal for in touch with the progress of the trust fund for the Hazel Hughes education fund Tuesday brought in $58, which put the total raised thus far over the $1,000 mark.

If the public continues to contribute as generously as it has during the past few weeks, there will be no doubt that Hazel will receive the training in college necessary for her to become a teacher of the blind, but the good work must not be allowed to lag, for it takes money to put a young girl through college these days.

Among the donations received Tuesday was one of $10 from F. E. M. C. Philadelphia, who is visiting here, and who noticed the Hazel Hughes fund in Tuesday's Constitution. F. E. M. sent in his contribution with the statement that he expects to keep

He is in charge of a trust fund which has been established to pick up Hazel's education where her father left off.

CLEMENCY PLEA
FOR JACK ROLLINS
HEARD BY BOARD

The prison commission Tuesday heard the petition for parole of Jack Rollins, alias Willie Rollins, alias Willie Tanner, now serving on a 20-year sentence on conviction of engaging in mob violence. The commission's recommendations probably will not go to the governor for several days, according to Chairman E. L. Rainer.

Rollins was convicted in Coffee county in 1925, along with nearly a score of others, on charges of storming a jail and removing and lynching a man named Dave Wright. Wright had been arrested on a charge of murdering Mrs. Zilphie Tanner, mother of Rollins. He has been serving on his sentence since November, 1926.

SELLS AT $1 A COPY

Comments on Student Life Called Objectionable by Authorities.

Austin, Texas, April 2.—(AP)—Containing a reprint of the "sex questionnaire" which caused a furore at the University of Missouri and resulted in the dismissal of three faculty members, the Blunderbus, an outlawed University of Texas journal, was circulated again today, selling at $1 the copy. Meanwhile city police, backed by university authorities, sought the publishers.

In addition to printing the questionnaire, the Blunderbus contained comments on student life at the University of Texas which the authorities insisted warranted criminal libel charges against the editors.

THE NEW MODEL
CHICKERINGNew Beauty
In America's Oldest Piano

The new baby grand pictured above adds fresh laurels to the brilliant Chickering fame. Slender and graceful it would fittingly adorn the homes of society, would arouse warm admiration no matter how great the charm of the furniture pieces with which it might share the drawing room. Before commencing its design, we studied hundreds of American homes, conferred with distinguished architects and interior decorators throughout the land. The lines of this baby grand are typical of the best present-day American furniture—furniture in which there is being created a style as definite and as charming as that of Queen Anne or of Hepplewhite. Come and see how gracefully this new model Chickering would adorn your living room, hear its traditionally rich tone. Judge for yourself how enjoyable its music would be. $1095.

RAILROAD 'Y' PLANS PURCHASE OF HOTEL

Mass Meeting Set for Thursday Night To Discuss Proposed New Home.

Discussion of plans for the raising of $100,000 for the purchase and improvement of the Gate City hotel as a permanent home of the Atlanta Railroad Y. M. C. A. will feature a mass meeting in the Southern railway assembly room at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night, which will be attended by representatives of all railroads running into Atlanta, express companies, the Pullman company and the railway mail service, according to an announcement Tuesday by E. W. Swann, baggage master, Southern railway, member of the new building committee.

It was stated that arrangements have been virtually completed for the sale of the Gate City hotel at approximately $80,000, while it is planned to spend $20,000 on improvements. The site is located at the northeast corner of Forsyth street and Trinity avenue, which is said to be an ideal situation in point of convenience.

The old Y. M. C. A., which was located at the corner of Forsyth and Mitchell streets, recently was gutted by fire, causing a loss of approximately $7,000 in equipment and fixtures. This building contained 100 beds as well as a library and reading rooms. About half of the loss was covered by insurance.

If the proposed plans for the new site go through as planned, the building will be equipped with 150 beds, as well as many other conveniences for the Railroad Y. M. C. A. members. The present owner is Henry Luman, F. H. Sappington, of George W. Ware & Company, is handling the deal.

The new building committee is composed of W. W. Waits, superintendent of terminals, Southern railway, chairman; W. N. Hicks, Toll C. Waters, J. C. Hixon, C. G. Walker, J. P. Benson and E. P. Swann.

DEADLINE IS NEAR FOR TAX RETURNS JOHNSON WARNS

Warning that the deadline for returning state and county taxes is fast approaching, was issued Tuesday by Edwin F. Johnson, county tax receiver. Thousands of Fulton county and Atlanta citizens have failed to make 1925 state and county returns, many being under the impression that they are not required to make returns unless they own real estate, Mr. Johnson said.

The tax receiver pointed out that under the law every adult male who resided in Fulton county on January 1, 1926, is required to make returns by April 30 if for nothing more than poll tax, and that penalties are provided by the law for failure to do so. Every property owner, male or female, should make returns, and all automobiles, jewelry, or other personal property should be returned for taxation, he said.

JAMES D. ROBINSON NAMED TO SPECIAL TAX COMMISSION

Appointment of James D. Robinson, prominent business man of Atlanta, and R. M. Arnold, of Columbus, as members of the special commission named to study the state tax conditions was announced Tuesday by Governor L. G. Hardman. They will succeed William J. Yee, of Moultrie, and H. H. Swift, of Columbus, who were unable to serve.

Mr. Robinson is one of the best known business men in the state and is much interested in tax matters. Mr. Arnold also is familiar with tax conditions in the state.

R. C. Norman, chairman of the special commission, announced that a meeting would be held as soon as reports are prepared by sub-committees. The commission will prepare recommendations which will be submitted to the state legislature at its session this summer.

VIVIAN D. CORBY, D. A. V. ADJUTANT, SPEAKS THURSDAY

Vivian D. Corby, of Cincinnati, national adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will be entertained by disabled Atlanta veterans at a dinner Thursday night in the civic room of the Ansley hotel. Mr. Corby is in close touch with the government's rehabilitation program and will discuss it with the Atlanta veterans.

There are about 2,000 disabled men in this section receiving compensation and about 5,000 other ex-service men who have applied for compensation. Less than half of the number of veterans who have applied for assistance and believe they warrant it have received compensation, Mr. Corby said Tuesday.

The meeting Thursday night will be presided over by L. Ballenger, commander of the Atlanta chapter of the disabled veterans' organization.

BEN HILL CITIZENS APPEAL TO BOARD FOR NEW SCHOOL

Request for a new and modern school building at Ben Hill was received Tuesday by the Fulton county board of education when a large delegation of Ben Hill citizens attended the monthly meeting. The board promised to build the school when funds are available. The present school house is a two-story frame structure.

Co-operative Poultry Sale To Be Conducted In Cobb County Today

The first poultry sale to be held in Cobb county will take place at Marietta today. It was announced Tuesday by the state bureau of markets. Many co-operative poultry sales have been held in north Georgia and have met with marked success, it was stated.

MASONS MEET TODAY

LEVIATHAN MAIL THIEF TOOK SINGLE LETTER FROM SACK

London, April 2.—(AP)—The peculiar discrimination of the thief who violated the single sack of the steamship Leviathan's registered mail before it left here last week is puzzling investigators.

The thief slit one of about 200

MRS. HARDMAN IS FULLY RESTORED AFTER TEN YEARS

"I Can Hardly Realize I Am the Same Suffering Woman I Was a Few Weeks Ago," She Says.

"Before starting the Sargon treatment I was thin, weak and underweight, but I am on the fourth bottle now, have gained ten pounds, and the treatment has done so much for me, when everything else failed, that I never expect as long as I live to be without the medicine.

"How I have suffered the past ten years! My appetite failed me to the point that I had practically no desire for any kind of food, and it seemed impossible to coax it. I was compelled to eat a little food, of course, but nothing I ate would digest, and for a long time before starting the treatment, about 2 o'clock every morning gas pressure against my heart, causing palpitation one minute and the next heavy beats, would bring on smothering spells, that made me fight for my breath.

"I became terribly nervous through loss of sleep, and during the day was unstrung, weak and at times practically exhausted. Then constipation and biliousness came on and caused me no end of misery. I will never forget how I suffered with terrible sick headaches, and my poor back pained me so that it felt like it would break in two. It seemed to me that I tried just about every medicine that I thought would help me, but as I got no permanent relief, I was almost on the verge of despair, when I decided to try the Sargon treatment. I have taken four bottles of Sargon and two of Sargon Soft Mass Pills, and the change in my condition has simply been wonderful.

"Just as soon as I began to eat and digest my food again I felt much better and stronger. And what a relief and joy it is to sit down and eat a hearty meal—just anything I want—without the least trouble of any kind. And how I do enjoy my sleep! And how wonderful it is to be free of all that awful nervousness after all these years of suffering. It seemed to me I could almost feel new, rich blood through my veins, my color is healthy, and I am so strong and energetic I can hardly realize I am the same poor, suffering woman of just a few weeks ago.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are as wonderful as Sargon. They stimulated my liver and ended those awful headaches by cleansing my system of impurities and ending my biliousness. They don't shock or upset in the least, and are different from any laxative I ever took before. My constipation is practically over, and I can't find words to express my gratitude for the way this treatment built me back to splendid health and strength again.

The above grateful statement was recently made by Mrs. L. E. Hardman, of 671 Woodward Ave., N. E. Mrs. Hardman is a member of the Western Heights Baptist church, has lived in Atlanta all her life and is highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. Hundreds of people are daily consulting the Special Sargon Representative at Jacobs' Main Store, 5 and 8 Marietta St., to learn first hand about this revolutionary new medicine. A personal interest is taken in every case and full information is freely given. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(Adv.)

mail bags, reached through the slit to the smaller bag inside, slit this, and took a single letter from Cologne, Germany, and addressed to Bogota, Colombia. Nothing else was taken from the one bag opened and other bags were not molested.

London police are trying through the German police to ascertain the contents of the stolen letter. Where the theft was committed is still a mystery.

U. S. President Mustn't Be Fat; Food Is Watched

BY LAWRENCE SULLIVAN, United News Staff Correspondent, Washington, April 2.—(United News)—President Hoover is watching his carbohydrates closely.

He is also avoiding fats, sugars and starches.

He is determined he shall not gain in weight and is following a rigid program for keeping fit—for the first time in his life.

Since he entered the White House a month ago, the president has gained a bit, but his general condition is much sounder today. He is harder and firmer today than a month ago, and in generally sounder health.

Mrs. Hoover has been enlisted by the White House staff in a campaign to make it easy for the president to follow the new food regime. He is not on a diet, in the strict sense of the word, but his food is being selected carefully with a view to providing the necessary nourishment without building up weight.

Under this program, fruits and fresh vegetables, such as Mrs. Hoover always found at hand in her native California, are a conspicuous part of the White House menu nowadays. Salads, nuts and berries also are used generously.

AIR MAIL SERVICE TO PANAMA STARTS FROM MIAMI, FLA.

Miami, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—A Sikorsky amphibian plane, piloted by Lieutenant Christian F. Schilt, marine corps pilot, on leave of absence, left the Pan-American airport at 7 o'clock this morning to inaugurate tri-weekly airmail service between Miami and Cristobal, Panama.

Lieutenant Schilt arrived in Miami from Cristobal Monday, bringing a large amount of mail on the last of the flights under the bi-monthly schedule, which was started February 4, when Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh opened the route.

According to the schedule Lieutenant Schilt will stop at Belize, British Honduras, tonight and go to Tela, Honduras, tomorrow, the end of the northern division. At Tela he will be met by a Ford trimotor transport plane, which will carry the mail to the end of the route at Cristobal, making an overnight stop at Managua, Nicaragua.

Planes will leave both Miami and Cristobal Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, meeting at Tela on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday.

Connections will be made at Cristobal with the new line to Guayaquil, Ecuador, a distance of 1,050 miles, which was opened yesterday by Pan-American Airways. From Guayaquil to Mollendo, Peru, at the northern border of Chile, an air line is now being operated by the Peruvian Airways Inc., owned jointly by Pan-American Airways and the Grace Steamship Company.

For the present only airmail will be carried between Miami and Ecuador. Both airmail and passengers, however, will be carried on the Peruvian line from Guayaquil to Mollendo, officials said.

POLICE CAPTURE ALLEGED GEORGIA ROBBER OF BANK

Meridian, Miss., April 2.—(AP)—A man giving the name of Lester Powell, was arrested near here today and officers announced later he admitted being one of the three bandits who held up a bank at Chickamauga, Ga., on March 19.

Powell was lodged in the county jail pending the arrival of Sheriff Keown, of Lafayette, Ga., to return him there for court action. When arrested he was riding in an automobile with his wife and daughter between Meridian and Quitman.

Officers said he first denied but later admitted his identity, and talked freely of the holdup. The bandits are said to have obtained more than $6,000 but Powell was quoted as saying he received only $1,200. Officers said they found $200 hidden in his sock and claimed the automobile in which he was riding had been purchased in New Orleans with part of the money.

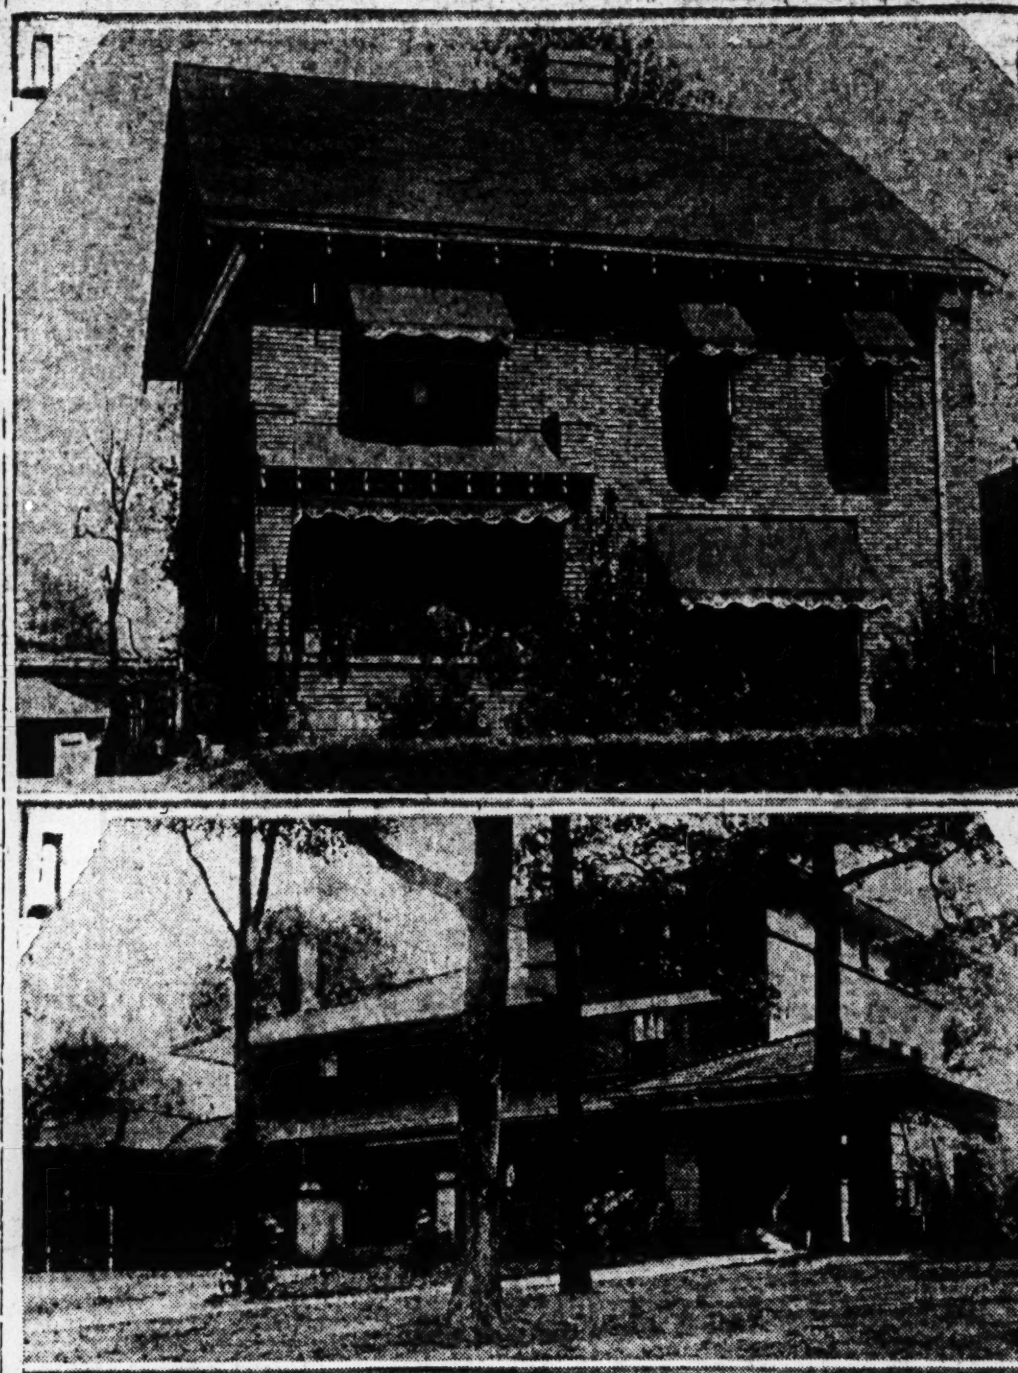

Powell was quoted as saying that after the holdup he accepted the money in the spare tire of their automobile.

HOUSE COMMITTEE PROPOSES TO PROBE FEDERAL JURIST

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Investigation of the administration of Federal Judge Grover M. Moscovitz, of Brooklyn, remained today before a congressional sub-committee after the resignation of Judge Francis A. Winslow from the federal bench in Manhattan yesterday.

Although Judge Winslow's resignation canceled the inquiry of his work which was to have started a couple of hours after the time when his resignation was announced, it was made known that a sub-committee of the house judiciary committee next Monday will begin investigation of Judge

Another Clear, Cool Morning Seen for Today

Another clear, cool morning is in store for Atlanta today, to be followed by still more clearness and a rising mercury, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist, who stated Tuesday that the storms in other parts of the country would have no effect here and that ideal weather conditions would continue for a while anyway.

A mid-Tuesday morning gave a rather chilly greeting to early risers, but Old Sol soon started his warming work and a maximum of 74 was the high point for the day. The official mercury will start off again in the neighborhood of 45 today, but will get up to about 70 before night falls, in the opinion of Mr. von Herrmann.

KIDNAPED GIRL, 14, FOUND IN A HUT TIED TO BEDPOST

Philadelphia, April 2.—(AP)—Tied to a bedpost in a hut in an isolated spot in New Jersey, Rita Carulo, 14-year-old schoolgirl who was abducted more than three weeks ago, was rescued by detectives.

The girl was weak from lack of food and was near collapse when her rescuers cut the cords that bound her. They arrested Gaetano Alonido, 48, who the girl said had carried her away in an automobile and beaten her.

Search for the girl had been conducted here and in surrounding cities since her disappearance March 8. Detectives discovered the hut and when they broke in the door Alonido jumped from a window. He was caught.

Rita said that Alonido, who had boarded at her home for a short time, had enticed her into his automobile as she was returning from school.

NAVY AIR EXPERT AWARDED WRIGHT AVIATION MEDAL

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander C. H. Havill, of the navy bureau of aeronautics, has won the Wright brothers medal for the best technical paper on aviation subjects with an article on airplane propellers.

The medal was to be presented April 14 at a dinner in his honor after the conclusion of the Detroit aircraft show.

Moscovitz, who has been charged with irregularities in bankruptcy cases by Representative Andrew L. Somers, Brooklyn, John W. Davis is counsel for Judge Moscovitz.

ENVOY HERRICK'S BODY TO ARRIVE APRIL 12

French Government Continues Plans for Imposing Funeral.

New York, April 2.—(AP)—The body of Ambassador Herrick will arrive in New York on the French cruiser Tourville April 12. Formerly Herrick, the ambassador's son, will meet the cruiser. His wife is expected to arrive the same day on the Aquitania.

Formerly Herrick, who returned from Paris last week, came here from Cleveland yesterday and was joined by his son, Farnely Herrick, Jr., a student at St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H. "It is the desire of the family that the funeral be as simple as possible," said Mr. Herrick. He said the body immediately upon arrival would be taken to Cleveland. Until it is due he will be the guest of A. J. Drexel Paul at Radnor, Pa.

FRENCH MAKE PLANS FOR LAST RITES

Paris, April 2.—(AP)—The French government continued today its plans for imposing funeral honors for Myron T. Herrick, United States ambassador. Little was being left undone to pay tribute to the man who while he lived here was France's friend as well as his own country's plenipotentiary. A number of details inseparable from the elaborate ceremonial involved remained unsettled today but the principal features of the obsequies were agreed upon. Meanwhile the body itself remained at the embassy where a throng of admirers, both distinguished and humble, passed for a last view.

The ceremony Thursday will open with the funeral oration pronounced by Premier Raymond Poincare himself. This will be the second time in little more than a fortnight he will have been called upon to officiate in such a capacity. A distinguished gathering at the embassy will hear his eulogy.

After it is concluded the cortege will form outside with a guard of honor, to which the ambassador is entitled as holder of the rare distinction of the grand cross of the Legion of Honor. The guard will be followed by a considerable representation of other organizations. The cortege will proceed a short distance to the American pro-cathedral, where there will be a memorial service.

The body will then be placed on a special train and conveyed to the coast and taken aboard the new fast cruiser Tourville, which will depart immediately for New York. There Farnely Herrick, the ambassador's son, will await it to accompany it to Cleveland for interment.

There was a never-ending stream of visitors at the embassy, all signing the book and expressing their condolence with the embassy staff and Mrs. Farnely Herrick, the ambassador's daughter-in-law.

MICHAELSON GETS INDICTMENT COPY ON DRY CHARGE

Chicago, April 2.—(AP)—Congressman M. A. Michaelson, of Chicago, who yesterday surrendered at the federal building on a several months' old indictment for his appearance in Florida on charges of violating the national prohibition laws by bringing in liquor from Cuba, today made his second appearance at the federal building. He went for a copy of the indictment. Questioned about the statement which he said yesterday he expected to issue and which he said would "explain everything," Congressman Michaelson said he intended to issue a statement as soon as he read the indictment. He tried to find out what this is all about.

Formation of New Dairy Concern Is Seen as Boon To Farmers of the South

Leading Business Men Meet With Representatives of J. C. Penney Co., Sponsoring New Firm.

The formation of the Foremost Dairy Products Corporation, comprising some 28 dairies in the southeast, will be of inestimable benefit to agricultural interests in this section, was the opinion expressed at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon which was attended by a number of leading Atlanta business men, together with officials of the new company and representatives of the J. C. Penney Company, which is backing the new concern.

Principal speakers for the occasion included Dr. Burdette G. Lewis, president of the organization; G. H. Bryant, public relations counsel of the J. C. Penney Company; George H. Bryant, of the Georgia-Carolina Milk Company, and W. H. Beatty, chief engineer of the company, formerly with Cherry Burrell. Philip H. Abston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and H. G. Hastings, prominent Atlanta business man, spoke in behalf of Atlanta and Georgia.

Mr. Penney is vitally interested in the development of the south along all possible agricultural lines," Dr. Lewis declared. "He has started model farms on a large scale in Florida, where expert advice on the raising and marketing of farm products can be obtained. It is his idea to incorporate in farming the same ideas which have made his chain stores one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country."

The speaker pointed out that 100,000 acres had been acquired in Florida for the construction of demonstration farms and that much of this land already is under cultivation. The demonstrations include farming in all its branches as well as dairying. Crops, he said, must be grown, graded and sold properly and efforts are being made to teach the farmers to do just this.

Speaking of dairy products, Dr. Lewis stated that many of these were being brought into the south from other parts of the country.

Lags in Summer.

"There has been great difficulty in handling dairy products in Florida due to the fact that more are used during the winter tourist season while the summer always produces a costly surplus," he stated. "In addition, the consumption of dairy products here is far below that of other sections of the country, mainly because the people have not been made familiar with their actual food value."

"With the completion of this merger," he went on, "many of these difficulties will be done away with. We will be able to handle the surplus production by building up a standard product and by equalizing distribution methods. We have secured adequate financial backing, having interested some of the largest banks in the country in our project and the financial policies of J. C. Penney are too well known to require elaboration.

There are four principal factors in the problem. These are the manufacturers, managers, financial backers and the consumers. In old days the manufacturer held the whip hand; then it was the manager, then the financial backers and now it is the consumers. Modern business tries to smooth these over and to promote good feeling among them.

Division of Surplus.

"Our idea is to let each of the four take their legitimate profit and then divide the surplus on an equitable basis. The farmer is a common stockholder in industry and deserves his part of the profits. This is not a visionary thing. It already has been done in other industries."

Mr. Sancken pointed out that they "had not sold out to Wall Street," but had merely secured the financial backing necessary, and that the result would mean an "era of great prosperity for the south."

Plans for the company include partitioning the surplus, which will compromise the dairy farmers supplying the milk, distributors who will be represented by the dairy companies, and the general operating officials in the earnings of the company on a pro rata basis in proportion to their contribution to the success of the company.

To Follow Same Plan.

In general the plans which have been followed by the chairman of the board in the operation of the J. C. Penney Company, has done in Florida by Foremost Dairy Products, Inc. All units contributing to the development of the company will be on what is essentially a partnership basis.

Benefits to the consumer will come from a stabilization of prices and a standardization of quality.

The dairy farmer will benefit through an equalization of demand for raw milk and he will not be subjected to the wide seasonal variation which hitherto has been one of the discouraging features of dairying in the south.

Condenseries will furnish a market for his products in the months of low consumption. Organized sales efforts, which will have for their aim the securing of the tremendous volume of sales which now go to northern dairy companies during the periods of peak demand will keep millions of dollars in the south every year.

In Leading Organizer.

Dr. Lewis, who is vice president of the J. C. Penney-Gwynn Company with control of its operations in Florida, is recognized as one of the leading organizers in this country.

board, is one of the best-known dairy cattle breeders in the world. Last year he covered in dairy states in a campaign to promote better breeding and increased production.

A limited offering of preference stock and common stock in Foremost Dairy Products, Inc., is being made through the George M. Forman Company, prominent New York and Chicago bankers. The National City Bank of New York and the Central Trust Company, of Chicago, are acting as transfer agents. Registrars are the Chemical National Bank of New York and the Continental-Illinois Bank & Trust Co., of Chicago.

Such of the securities as will be offered to the public will be issued through George M. Forman & Co. and Moore, Leonard & Lynch, of New York.

This is the first time that initial investment securities in any company headed by Mr. Penney have ever been offered to the general public.

Secret of Success.

"The placing of a definite responsibility on my shoulders when I was a young man was the start of everything which I have since accomplished. Because it worked with me, I have always believed it would work with others." This, according to a statement Tuesday by G. H. Bryant, public relations counsel of the J. C. Penney Company, is the thought back of the work which J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney Company, has done in Florida, owner of the herds of Foremost Guernsey cattle which have been accorded premier place among all dairy herds in the country, publisher of the Christian Herald and chairman of the board of the newly organized Foremost Dairy Products Company, has done in a career of what he terms humble service to the nation.

He has readily adhered to the policy that every man is worthy of a proper share in the full fruits of his labors, Mr. Bryant declared.

Started as Clerk.

"When he was 27 years old he was working as a clerk in a small department store in Evanston, Wyo. Today he is the head of a chain of department stores totaling 1,295 units and covering every state in the Union. Then he was working for a wage of $300 a month. Today he is known as the man with a thousand partners, all of them substantial, influential men in their communities. Every manager in a J. C. Penney Company store becomes a partner in the general business of the company," he stated.

"Every farmer on the 120,000-acre tract which he has established in Florida is becoming a partner in that project. Men who are working on the Christian Herald are becoming partners. And now it is promised that the dairy farmers and dairy operators who work with Foremost Dairy Products, Inc., will share in a co-operative manner in the success of this organization."

Hard Work Real Basis.

"Throughout his entire business career Mr. Penney has always said, 'It is not the genius who reaches success; it is the man who starts early with a definite idea, who works hard and loyally, who treats his success as an obligation to the rest of the world, who rises to the real top.'"

"His own career has substantiated the truth of his belief. He often repeats the statement, 'I doubt if I could successfully manage any one of the majority of our present stores.'

They are all so much bigger than the one in which I started. But I also doubt that any start a store any one of the individual stores could do a better job of selling than I can do right now. If I can get that idea over, that success is mine. I have accomplished as much as I hope to accomplish."

"In his relationship to agriculture, Mr. Penney has played an important part."

His herd of Foremost Guernsey cattle has been shown at Atlanta during the Southeastern fair. He has spoken throughout the south to large meetings of farmers and dairymen, giving them important suggestions for the development of more profitable herds.

"The majority of his interests, outside of the J. C. Penney Company, itself, are in the south, where he is chairman of the board of the National bank at Miami, Fla., one of the trustees and directors of Miami University, and where, in Georgia, he now is planning to start a dairy cattle breeding farm conducted along the lines which have proved so noteworthy in New York state."

Dealing.

"He believes that the economic security of the south rests in its development. He is who is spoken in his statement that more money can be made per acre through the breeding of dairy cattle than through any other form of work."

"He has pledged himself to help but he insists that he get the working co-operation of those whom his efforts will serve," Mr. Bryant concluded.

At Penney Farms he has shown cultivated grasses will bring up the production of dairy cattle and make them yield a substantial profit. He is using no methods which cannot be used by any dairy farmer. The operation of the dairy are practical in every way.

Last year at the National Dairy Show he stated that the average butter fat production of dairy cattle in the south is around 100 pounds per year. The national average is better than 200 pounds and any good dairy farmer can get an average of 300 pounds. Either of the two larger figures will afford a profit. But 100 pounds of fat should be a signal to send the cow to the butcher."

Operation of Company.

Through his connection with Foremost Dairy Products, Inc., Mr. Penney will put into practical operation in the broadest manner, the plans which he has been furthering for the past five years.

There will be nothing altruistic about his efforts. He feels that he is furnishing the means through which dairy farmers can make a good profit and milk consumers can get the type of milk products they want.

The organization he heads in the dairy business have found that there is a loss of $25,000,000 in the south every year because of the inroads made during peak market periods by northern dairy companies.

It is the purpose of this organization to turn those losses into new business in which the entire south will participate.

During the past two days, the managers of the J. C. Penney Company stores in the south have been in convention in Atlanta. Tuesday evening 28 young southern men were made managers of J. C. Penney Company stores, initiated by George H. Bushnell, vice president of the company and assigned to their stores by L. V. Day, director in charge of personnel.

These young men have been trained in stores in the south and are becoming partners in the J. C. Penney Company.

Through his other interests in this part of the country, equal opportunities are being presented to men who are willing to go through the period of training and development which is a part of business success.

PATRONAGE TRIALS BY U. S. DELAYED UNTIL APRIL 22

Jackson, Miss., April 2.—(AP)—Court officials here today announced postponement until April 22 of the federal patronage trials scheduled to come up at Meridian April 8.

Those to be tried for alleged conspiracy to violate the patronage act in public office barter are Perry W. Howard, negro republican national committeeman of Mississippi; J. G. Buchanan, former United States marshal; George L. McClelland, former Newton postmaster, and Ed L. Patton, Jackson negro.

Continuance until April 8 was decided upon last month because of a front page editorial in the Jackson Daily News published by its publisher, Frederick Sullivan, predicting that the defendants would not be convicted.

Sullivan was cited to show cause late this month why he should not be cited for contempt.

No reason was assigned for the continuance today.

AIDING RUM CAR TO ESCAPE COSTS MAN 10 MONTHS

Charges of speeding and road blocking Tuesday brought Willie Flynn a stiff sentence in city criminal court. Flynn pleaded guilty to the speeding charge and was sentenced by Judge Wood to pay $50, and on finding Flynn guilty of blocking the passage of County Patrolman Cal Cates, Judge Wood sentenced the defendant to serve ten months. County Officers Cates and Charlie Lyle told Judge Wood that Flynn kept them from passing him on Roswell road on March 11, thereby enabling a rum runner, whom they were pursuing, to escape.

MIDWEST FACING NEW FLOOD MENACE

Many Rivers Overflow Banks as Gales and Rains Whip Wide Area of U. S.

Chicago, April 2.—(United Press)—Rivers and lakes, swollen and whipped by Easter day gales and rains, gave new threats of floods in the central part of the United States today.

Streams in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri, were threatening to overflow their banks. Lake Michigan was still rising, and the crumbling seawalls along the Chicago water front. The great Mississippi was rising again and required constant guard of levees in Illinois and Iowa.

With communication systems, damaged by storms, the toll of Easter day storms increased to an estimated 50 injured and two dead. Damage to Chicago's seawall alone was estimated at $1,000,000 while the southwest, swept by tornadoes, reported heavy property damage.

Shipping on Lake Michigan was interrupted by the latest lake waters which for a time threatened to wash away the city water works at St. Joseph, Mich., and the coast guard station off Lincoln park in Chicago.

Between Hannibal, Mo., and Fort Madison, Iowa, 1,000 volunteers aided state militia in the battle against rising waters. The militia prevented it from sweeping away dikes and levees and flooding thousands of acres of rich farm lands. Some of the levees in such condition that breaks are expected momentarily, reports said.

It was estimated that the various levees along the river protect approximately 300,000 acres of valuable farm land.

At Hannibal, Ill., the river stage was 10.8 feet. Rivermen predicted the flood crest would be reached tomorrow. Despite efforts of guards several small holes and "boils" were appearing in the levees.

The Skunk, Fabius, Iowa, Rock and Henderson rivers, tributaries of the Mississippi, also were reported near flood stage. Levee district dwellers were prepared to evacuate their homes.

Hannibal and Canton, Mo., reported many homes surrounded by water. Factories and business establishments have been closed.

Green Bay, Wis., recovering from a damaging sleet storm Sunday was threatened by rising bay waters and overflow of the Fox river.

DR. SHANKLE FUNERAL HELD AT COMMERCE

Commerce, Ga., April 2.—(Special)—Dr. O. E. Shankle, 40 years old, one of the most prominent and beloved men in this section, died suddenly Sunday night and funeral services were conducted today from the First Methodist church.

His parents were S. M. Shankle and Mrs. Victoria Park Shankle, who were among the pioneer settlers of the village of Harmony Grove, now Commerce, who has developed into the thriving city of Commerce.

Dr. Shankle graduated from the Harmony Grove high school and then went to the University of Georgia and from the University of Georgia, after having pursued his medical studies under Governor L. G. Hardman, then an active practicing physician of Commerce. Dr. Shankle graduated from the Atlanta Medical college and took post-graduate work in some of the leading medical universities in the east. Returning to Commerce he entered into co-partnership with Dr. M. F. Nelms and that co-partnership lasted throughout the life of Dr. Nelms. After Dr. Nelms died Dr. Shankle continued the large and lucrative medical practice which had been built up by the former firm of Shankle and Nelms and at the time of Dr. Shankle's death he enjoyed one of the largest practices in north Georgia.

Dr. Shankle was a member of the Second ward of Commerce, president of the recently organized Commerce Building and Loan Association, a member of the First Methodist Church of Commerce, member of the board of directors of the First National bank and surgeon in chief of the hospital on the governor's staff.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Nana Johnson, of Thomas, McDuffie county, Dr. Shankle is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. L. J. Sharp, Commerce, Ga.; Mrs. N. W. Perkins, Atlanta, Ga.; Rev. George Shankle, now pastor of the Woodlawn Methodist Church, Augusta, Ga.; Lovie P. Shankle and A. M. Shankle, both of Commerce, and Claude Shankle, of Atlanta, Ga.

The funeral occurred from the First Methodist Church in Commerce, Ga., this afternoon. Dr. H. L. Edmondson, of Elberton, Ga., presiding elder of this district, officiating, assisted by Rev. J. H. Allison, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Commerce, Ga., and Rev. J. H. Quinn, formerly of Commerce. The active pallbearers were Dr. M. Durham, Dr. A. A. Rogers, Claude Montgomery, E. E. Barber, H. Holbrook and W. D. Sheppard. The honorary pallbearers were: Governor L. G. Hardman, Adjutant-General Parker and 10 members of his staff, the board of stewards of the First Methodist church, mayor and council of the city of Commerce, Dr. F. M. Hubbard, J. C. Verner and M. T. Henderson. Following the impressive services at the church the interment occurred in Gray Hill cemetery.

Gleaming, Tartar-Free Teeth

What have Stockings to do with Tooth Paste?

You can for instance, get an extra pair or two with that $3.00 you save by using Listerine Tooth Paste. Its cost (1½¢ a large tube) is about half of that of the ordinary dentifrice. And millions, both men and women, having proved that it cleans teeth whiter, in less time, are glad to take advantage of this economy.

LISTERINE Tooth Paste

THERE are many excellent dentifrices on the market selling at a trifle above or below 50¢—but is it necessary to pay that much? Why not a first class dentifrice at 25¢—scientifically correct for all types of teeth?

Believing this to be a sound price, we created Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢ for a large tube. It is the result of more than fifty years' study of tooth and mouth troubles.

Now it is sweeping the country. Everywhere it is supplanting older and costlier dentifrices that accomplish no more!

Due to the presence of an amazing new and gentle polishing agent, it keeps teeth gleaming white with almost no brushing. Included in it are certain ingredients we have found most ideal in keeping the mouth and gums fresh and healthy.

Try Listerine Tooth Paste for a month. See how it makes teeth gleam. Note how good your mouth feels after using it. Compare it with any paste you have ever used and judge it by results alone. And then reflect that these results are costing you about half of what you would ordinarily pay. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

$25,000,000 Market Loan Draws Fire of Carter Glass As Illegal Use of Bank Funds

Federal Reserve Board in Session Throughout Day—Leaders in Senate To Await Developments.

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Relations of the federal reserve board to the tremendous money transactions involved in the stock exchanges were the subject of conflicting statements today at the capitol while at the same time the question was studied at the treasury where the board is housed.

Members of the reserve board were in session throughout the day while the governors of the twelve banks held forth also in their semi-annual conference. There were no announcements of the discussions.

Glass Talks Again.

But up at the capitol Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, one of the authors of the federal reserve act, let loose another assault upon the use of federal reserve facilities for stock speculation and upon Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank and a Class A director in the reserve system, for making $25,000,000 available to the market recently.

Earlier in the day, Representative Fish, republican, New York, had issued a statement declaring a previous demand by Senator Glass for the resignation of Mitchell from the reserve system was "unwarranted." In reply, Senator Glass discussed the federal reserve act and some points raised recently by Robert Owen, former democratic senator from Oklahoma, who has taken a contrary position to Glass.

"I unhesitatingly declare," Glass reiterated today, "that the use of the federal reserve facilities for stock speculation is textually in violation of the law and that Mr. Mitchell, having aided and abetted such violation of the law and having flouted the authority of the federal reserve board, should be properly disciplined."

Legislation Needed.

Mr. Glass made it clear today also that he believed further legislation necessary to insure the reserve board's control over money likely to find its way into speculation. If there is any opportunity for consideration of such legislation at the forthcoming extra session, he said, he would seek to draft the measure he has in mind and which has not been disclosed by him.

While Senator King, democrat, of Utah, is prepared to ask for an investigation of the credit situation by the senate banking committee, leaders of the banking committee, including Chairman Norbeck and Senator Fletcher of Florida, the ranking democrats, are inclined to await further developments before sanctioning that step.

Senator Fletcher is giving favorable consideration to a proposal for amendment of the stock transfer law aimed to prohibit "margin" transactions in stocks. R. O. Brooks, of New York, who describes himself as a conservative analyst, has made the proposal calling for a tax of such proportions on profits made in "margin" deals that most of such income would go to the government.

Situation Saved.

In his statement, Representative Fish declared the "spontaneous action" of Mr. Mitchell helped to save the market from a panic that would have seriously affected business generally and might have impaired the credit of the federal reserve system.

"The quick thinking and acting on the part of Mr. Mitchell should have been commended instead of condemned by the author of the federal reserve bill. I am positive that the members of the federal reserve board did not want to be the cause of a panic and should be thankful to Mr. Mitchell for supporting the market with $25,000,000 of his bank's funds when a serious crash was almost inevitable."

"Senator Glass may have been one of the authors of the federal reserve bill, but he is not now responsible for its operation and it might be just as well for him to remember that there are larger financial transactions in New York city in one week than there are in the entire state of Virginia in one year, and that the banking business of Wall street is just as honest and ethical as that on Main street."

To this Senator Glass replied that "if Representative Fish really thinks the federal reserve board is competent to defend its own act and speak for itself it seems to me that Mr. Fish would have hesitated to make himself a spokesman for the board."

"For that matter," Glass continued, "I have no doubt that stock speculators on the New York exchange whose transactions are now absorbing inconceivable credits and funds, which should properly be applied to business interests throughout the country, are perfectly able to speak for

CHIEF LEADERS STUDY BANKRUPTCY LAW PROCEDURE

A committee of credit executives and lawyers has been appointed by the National Association of Credit Men to study bankruptcy procedure and to make recommendations for improvements in bankruptcy administration. C. L. Williamson, secretary of the Atlanta association, said Tuesday. The committee was selected by Frank D. Beck, of Denver, president of the national organization, who recently visited Atlanta and addressed the local association.

"The committee will make a thorough study of the national bankruptcy laws and their administration from the points of view of creditor, debtor and lawyer," Mr. Williamson said. "Findings of the committee will be reported to the national convention of the organization in Minneapolis in June and undoubtedly changes will be recommended."

Richard T. Baden, of Baltimore, was named chairman of the committee.

INSTALLMENT COMPANY SEEKS LIQUIDATION

Upon application of the Southern Guarantee Loan Company, alleging that it is a corporation under the laws of Georgia, with headquarters in Atlanta, the Citizens & Southern bank, of Atlanta, was, on Monday afternoon, appointed conservator of the assets of the company, pending liquidation.

The petition recites that the company was organized in 1894, its principal business consisting of the sale of installment securities, some of which are outstanding, and that the corporation desires to liquidate its business, pay off its obligations and surrender its charter, for which purpose the services of a conservator or receiver would be required to conserve its assets, reduce them to cash and distribute the proceeds, first, among the creditors of the liquidating corporation, the residue to be distributed among the stockholders.

The order appointing the Citizens & Southern bank as conservator or temporary receiver, was granted by Judge Humphreys, and hearing upon the petition for dissolution of the corporation was assigned by order, for May 18, 1929.

Rise Was Rapid.

"A native of Madisonville, Tenn., Mr. Hicks came to Atlanta in 1918 and looked around for a connection with prominent promotion," Colonel Maxwell said. "He joined the Atlanta Sterchi store staff and in three years had won his way to the management of the store. In 1927 he became Georgia division manager, and it was natural that he should be the first man selected for the board of directors of the combined Sterchi furniture interests when they were merged recently."

"Mr. Hicks has on foot an elaborate program for Georgia Sterchi stores, and in addition he plans to open numerous additional stores in the state soon. His alert business mind makes it possible for him to create new ideas and new methods in furniture merchandising continually, and quite often managers of other stores visit Atlanta to study his system of operation. He will leave Atlanta today to attend a meeting of the Sterchi board in Knoxville, and he will be able there to report an unprecedented business gain thus far in 1929 for the Georgia group of stores."

"Being a former Atlantan, thinking a great deal of Georgia, I gave me a real thrill recently to hear him render a report at a Sterchi managers' meeting that placed the Atlanta store at the top of the Sterchi list. Mr. Hicks is a favorite with the Sterchi organization, not only because of his proven ability, but also because of his pleasing and winning personality, and the most recent honor accorded him was merited in every way."

Hicks is staging a statewide "after supper" furniture sale which will begin in all Georgia Sterchi stores Friday night at 7:30 o'clock and will last through April 13.

Colonel Maxwell said that Mr. Hicks' selection for the Sterchi committee director was a well-merited tribute to the latter's aggressive business ability and affable and winning personality.

ALLEGED BANDIT IN RAILWAY OFFICE

HOLDUP INDICTED

Horse Reed was indicted Tuesday by Fulton grand jurors on a charge of robbing H. O. Nibler, cashier of the Southern railway, of $383.64 on March 4.

The cashier, who was held up in his office, according to Detective John W. Lowe, noticed that the bandit's gun was nickel plated but had a brass cylinder. With this information and aided by other tips, Lowe arrested Reed. The cashier was locked in the vault by the bandit, but was released by other employees who entered the office after the bandit had escaped.

DR. D. R. MCGEECHY IS ELECTED HEAD OF MINISTERS' BODY

Dr. D. P. McGeechy, Jr., pastor of the Capitol View Presbyterian church, has been elected president of the Atlanta Presbyterian Ministers' Association. It was announced Tuesday. Dr. McGeechy will serve for the next six months.

Other officers are: Dr. F. F. Baker, of Hapeville, vice president, and Dr. T. P. Burgess, secretary and treasurer. Dr. Burgess is serving for life.

Tuesday's program was featured by talks by Harry DeVine and Karl Foster, of the Agfa Ansco Corporation, and Miss Emma Gerhart, of St. Louis, and Richard N. Spaight, London court photographer.

It's a sign of progress to own this great new car

Forward-looking people will investigate this car

OWNERSHIP of a New Pontiac Big Six is rapidly becoming a mark of progress. That was bound to happen. In fact, the New Pontiac was created with some such end in view. It was designed to appeal primarily to that great group of forward-looking Americans who have been seeking a finer low-priced automobile. And now it's a sign of progress to own this great new car.

Nor is that all. In addition to the prestige which accompanies Pontiac ownership, many additional advantages are gained. For example, you get the speed, power and smoothness of a truly big car, embodying such examples of advanced engineering as the Harmonic Balancer, a counter-weighted crankshaft and the G-M-R cylinder head. You get the big car style and luxury provided in stunning new bodies by Fisher. And you get all these advantages without going out of the low-priced field.

If you are not already familiar with the New Pontiac Big Six, come in and let us show you how you can step up the quality of your automobile without paying a big car price.

Sam Hale Ends Old Myth About His Small Hands

Columbia, S. C., April 2.—(AP)—Sammy Hale, third baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, has exploded the myth about his supposedly small hands.

Hale was pretty wild the other day when he picked up a western newspaper that resurrected the story about his hands being so small that his third basing was handicapped. He stormed into the office of the paper and measured and weighed his hands. They were pronounced "trifle smaller than the average, but not unusually undersized." Hale compared the measurements with those of Cy Perkins, Mule Hines, Jack Quinn and Joe Hagler. The examination revealed that the little finger on Hale's left hand is somewhat squashed and can bend various ways which may account for the occasions when the ball fails to stick in the glove, especially when the ball strikes near the end of the finger.

Title Belt at Stake In Morgan-Zorella Go

Los Angeles, April 2.—(AP)—Tom Morgan's junior lightweight championship belt, originally held by Johnny Dundee, will go to Santiago Zorella if the little Mexican wins the fight with Morgan here next Thursday night.

The belt was won by Morgan when he toppled the junior lightweight champion from Mike Ballerino's brow here in 1925.

Morgan, troubled for a few days with a boil on his right leg, resumed a stiff training pace yesterday. A workout today was his last hard conditioning.

Zorella, who has been working one day and laying off the next, boxed several rounds yesterday and repeated the same training today. The Panama Indian has been traveling through his workouts like a whirlwind.

NET ASSOCIATION TO BE FORMED

Trammell Scott Issues Call for Meeting of Local Amateurs Friday.

Complying with a request from many of the devotees of tennis, Major Trammell Scott has issued a call for players to meet at 66 North Broad street at 7:30 p. m. Friday night to organize a tennis association similar to the golf association.

The greatest season tennis has ever enjoyed locally is promised in the next few months with three tournaments certain to be played. Largest of these will be the Epworth league, which will be played on the Epworth grounds, which are very popular in the last.

The Y-Club Athletic Association will make its debut in sponsoring tennis this year with both the boys' and girls' divisions participating. Individual players are invited to attend this meeting and it is hoped that enough from each of the many parks of the city will be present to form committees to aid the membership committee.

Simpson Leads Bunion Derby

Philadelphia, April 2.—(AP)—Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., took the lead in C. C. Eyle's bunion derby today in finishing fourth in the 20-mile run from Trenton, N. J., to Frankford, northeast Philadelphia.

He far outdistanced Juul Coole, a Belgian runner, who had led the pack by the narrow margin of 45 seconds at the start of the lap. Coole now is in 11th place.

Simpson's elapsed time is 12:20:17 hours. Herbert Hedeman, of Australia, is second with an elapsed time of 12:34:43 hours.

Ray Trimble, of Bakersfield, Calif., breezed into Philadelphia first to four, covering the third lap in 3:38:40 hours. He started slowly but pulled up at the close and passed Hedeman, of Australia, who had led most of the way. Hedeman was second in 3:38:00.

Simpson, leader in elapsed time, ran into tough luck when he turned off the course at Trevose, Pa., while leading the field. He lost 100 miles and took only fourth place. His time was 3:50:12, about 13 minutes behind the leader.

Also in the first 10 were Giusto Umek, Italy, third, 3:45:20; fifth, Ken Mullin, Philadelphia, 3:47:14; sixth, John Salo, Seattle, N. J., 3:50:45; seventh, Ed Gardner, Seattle, Wash., 4:02:02; eighth, Voight Houfater, Maunster, Mich., 4:07:10; ninth, M. McNamara, Australia, 4:11:45; tenth, Arthur Newton, South Africa, 4:14:05.

The SPORTLIGHT

A Golf Record.

Several queries have been asked whether or not any other golfer ever duplicated Horton Smith's record from November to April—from Joplin to the Pacific on back to the Atlantic.

No other golfer has ever come close to Smith's prodigious, almost unbelievable performance. When you consider the length of his campaign—nearly six months—the vast varieties of courses he has been called on to play—the quality of the opposition and the quality of his own game—you get a golf story that slips into the miracle order.

If he had won one or two sensational tournaments, that would be something else. If he had been able to win only fairly good golf, that would also be something else. But this young Missouri Merin and his set of magic wands have blustered about 10,000 miles of fairway and have beaten, week after week, the finest professionals in the history of the game.

It is the phenomenal average of his scoring under heavy pressure for nearly six months that lifts him to such a pinnacle of golf greatness. A few years ago Mac Smith played 13 rounds in four or five big tournaments—all in a row—with an average of 70 to each round. This included two 70s over the backbreaking Lido test, one of the finest in golf. Yet Mac's record fades out before the other and young Smith's.

Two years ago Johnny Farrell won seven big tournaments out of eight starts, and that was nothing to be laughed off. It was a brilliant achievement. But even that was below the amazing record the Joplin entry has turned in since he began his wild march last fall. You can check back as far as you care to in golf and will never find a record for sustained brilliancy and consistency to equal Horton Smith's.

The Big Feature.

Golf is a game where even the best can only expect to be, at the peak for a short spell.

Even the best golfers have dreaded to reach this peak too soon before some championship started. Some years ago Gil Nichols, now at Deepdale, might have won more than one open, but he had the tough luck to reach top form the week before and win some big tournament just ahead of the bigger event. Bobby Jones shot a 66 at Worcester, the day before the championship, and had the struggle of his life to get a 77 the next day when the main show opened. Tommy Armour had a brilliant 67—68 in the $10,000 Los Angeles tournament, but the terrific pace burned him out the next day.

Golf timing is something of a hair-trigger matter when it comes to competition. The physical part isn't so hard, but the nerve strain is heavy and continuous. Any number of the best pros and leading amateurs can set a fast pace for a few days of competition. Then they begin to slip, to lose the touch and feel and the needed timing, and the 69s and the 70s turn to 77s and 79s.

To play at top speed for three weeks in first class competition has been an unusual happening. To keep under even 4s for nearly six months, while traveling thousands of miles, is something no one believed possible, much less probable.

I recall Vardon and Ray at the end of a two month's tour in this country. Both were worn to a frazzle. On the last day Ray was over 80. "My eyes are tired," he said, "and I never want to see a golf ball again."

Even the best golfers who win one or two big events, run into certain slumps shortly afterward. The nerve strain gets them in time. It calls for more time, much more time, in which to recuperate.

One Answer.

How is it that Horton Smith, not yet 21, could keep traveling at such speed over so long a stretch?

There are three reasons to be offered. The first is physical stamina and fine condition—a matter he watches closely.

The second is a temperament which or a disposition which carries little worry. He is less inclined to tension, to the keyed-up state than most golfers are. He has a smooth, true golf swing, that is probably the most important. He has a smooth, true golf swing, that is almost flawless in its style. It is the type of swing that makes golf look and feel comparatively easy. He has made correct balance or correct weight shifting a matter of instinct. He isn't constantly fighting errors that creep into so many swings. He has no faults to think about or to worry about. Only an almost flawless golf swing could keep fine timing operating for six months on a stretch. He hits a golf ball as Walter Johnson once threw a baseball, with his weight always in the right place, with a smooth, easy motion that gave no sign of great effort and yet collected the results.

No golfer with a faulty swing could have done what Horton Smith has done. And most of the great golfers have certain faults they have to watch—too much right hand—faulty foot work or faulty balance—the tendency toward tension and lifting the head—lack of co-ordination between arms and body—loss of putting touch—or something else. Few golfers are great from the tee to the bottom of the cup. Jones, Vardon, Hagen, Taylor, Braid, Farrell and the others have had certain tendencies they had to guard against—certain weaknesses with one club or possibly with more than one. If Horton Smith has any such weaknesses he hasn't shown it yet. So far he has been the triumph of mind and form over matter.

CHAMP LOSES AT PINEHURST

Mrs. Hill, Winner of Last Year's Title, Bows to Reading Girl.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 2.—(AP)—The first round match play in the North and South Women's Golf tournament today saw the downfall of Mrs. O. S. Hill, of the Meadowdale Country Club, Kansas City, Mo., the defending champion.

All the other favorites came through with flying colors. Mrs. Hill lost a stirring 18-hole encounter to Miss Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa. 2 and 1, in the only thing that resembled an upset the day's play brought forth.

Miss Collett was hard pushed until well along the second nine by Miss Virginia Holdrege, of Baltimore, Md.—Atlantic champion. Only one up at the turn, Miss Collett picked up and scored an angle on the 14th to help her win the match, 3 and 2.

Miss Edith Baker, of the Oakley Country Club, Boston, went along on even terms with Miss Hicks, until the turn, but on the contrary back the metropolitan sensation settled down to the form that made her the talk of Florida last winter and won by a score of 2 and 1.

Miss Virginia Van Wye, of Chicago, succeeded in defeating Mrs. Melvin Jones, another Windy City entry, mainly because she made the best of bad breaks or bad golf. The score was 4 and 2.

Miss Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, Ohio, former holder of the North and South title, won her way to the quarter finals with a 4 and 3 decision over Miss Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo. Miss Fordyce sank a 21-foot putt to win the 10th and from then on never dropped a hole.

Marion Turpie, New Orleans, southern champion, defeated Miss Ronald Barlow, of Philadelphia, 4 and 3, by piling up a comfortable lead on the way out.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., set a hot pace for Mrs. J. D. Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., and finished winner by 4 and 3.

Tech Plays Tigers Today at Auburn

John Jordan Slated To Pitch for Jackets in Game Against Plainsmen.

Georgia Tech's Yellow Jacket baseball team will leave this morning on its first road trip of the season, which will take the team through Alabama and Florida. On this trip the Jackets will face their first southern conference opposition at the season.

The first stop will be made at Auburn, Ala., where the Clay-coached boys will stop off for a couple of games with the Tigers of the Plains. The first of this two-game series will be played this afternoon and the second and last Thursday afternoon.

Following the Tiger series the Jackets will swing down into Florida for a series with the Gators of the University of Florida at Gainesville. These games, to be played Friday and Saturday, will wind up the initial road trip for the Jackets.

Coach Clay will take on this trip 18 players and will put on the field a strong team for the four games. John Jordan, one of Tech's outstanding pitchers, will in all probability take the mound in the opening game against the Tigers this afternoon with Jimmy Stevens, catcher de luxe of the jacket outfit, on the receiving end of Jordan's slants.

With Jordan on the mound this afternoon the Jackets can look for a victory, for the Tech mound ace is one of the best in the conference. In early games this season against professional clubs and non-conference teams he has attracted much attention and has won praise from many big league scouts.

Little is known of the strength of the Tigers this season but it is expected that the Jackets will meet stiff opposition on the Plains. The Gators have something of a ball club this season. The Floridians have been playing many big league clubs this spring and have learned much in these games.

The Jacket series will open the conference season for the Gators and they will be out to make it a clean sweep in their season's debut against conference opposition.

Following the stay in the machine state the Jackets will return home and prepare to receive Joe Guyon's Clemson Tigers the first of next week.

Clay will take an 18-man squad on the trek. Six of the crew are moundmen, two pitchers, five infielders, and four will work in the

Harry Heilmann Must Behave Or Lose Position

No matter what a player's name may be or how great a reputation he has made, the mark must be towed up the ranks of the Detroit Tigers this year. Manager Bucky Harris made this plain the other day when he suggested asking waivers on Harry Heilmann for failing to comply with training rules.

Heilmann is expected to hold down first base this season. He is a hitter of acknowledged skill with 13 years of major league experience behind him. Last year he hit .342 and in 1921, 1923, 1925 and 1927 topped the American league hitters. But Harry must behave or take the gate.

Harris has Dale Alexander, a $50,000 rookie from Toronto, who led the International league batters last year, for first base emergency calls. He is a big fellow who can drive the ball with much gusto, and has actually had more experience at the initial sack than Heilmann, who spent most of his time in the outfield.

Burke Aids Navy Team.

Eddie Burke, captain of the Navy team last year, is helping the coaches whip into shape the candidates for next fall's eleven.

Other pastures, Jordan, Quinn, Powell, Broome, Little and Jenkins will compose the pitching staff, with Captain Jimmie Stevens, Heron and Schulman to receive the tosses. Mitchell, Terrell, Smith, Frink and Isaac will play around in the infield, while Parham, Hutchinson, Jones and Dunlap will take care of the outfield posts.

What sets Pierce-Arrow apart

Body and Engines by Pierce-Arrow—and Pierce-Arrow in every part

BRIEFLY, pride is what puts Pierce-Arrow first among fine motor cars. Pierce-Arrow owners are naturally people of pride. And pride has been a vital part of Pierce-Arrow manufacture from the beginning.

The new Straight Eight is in quite the loveliest Pierce-Arrow tradition. In a word, it has distinction—a quality born of pride—one that is peculiarly Pierce-Arrow.

When the newly expanded Pierce-Arrow organization undertook the creation of this new car, there was a single cardinal principle laid down. That principle was: "Preserve Pierce-Arrow fineness!"

The aim was a car that would combine slenderness and beauty with size and power—a car that would make bulk and stodginess forever unfashionable in the upper circles of motordom.

And how the resulting automobile—the new Pierce-Arrow Straight Eight arrived at the psychological moment and captured a fastidious field, is already a matter of fine car history.

Tucky Net Team Plays Tech Today

Georgia Tech's tennis team will go out to the East Lake courts at 2:30 this afternoon in an effort to break their losing streak at the expense of the Wildcats of the University of Kentucky.

The Jackets, who have lost to both Tulane and Alabama in their only matches to date, have been hard hit by the loss of Sid Goldin, who has been a handicap to the Jackets. It is feared that he will be out of the running for the next week or two, though he may get into shape in time to get into one or two of the dual matches remaining on the Tech schedule before the conference tourney.

Margaret Maddox Defeats Mrs. Beck in A. W. G. A. Playoff

Mrs. Fraser Wins In Ansley Tourney

Victory in Playoff at Druid Hills Gives Young Star Class A Trophy of Association.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

For at least a period of a few weeks Margaret Maddox can sit at the head of the A. W. G. A. table and serve necks and wings to the rest of the members. She won the right to this seat Tuesday when she beat Mrs. L. H. Beck in a play-off for the Class A trophy of the association at Druid Hills.

The play-off was the quite natural result of a medal tie in the one-day tournament held one week ago yesterday, among the dogwoods at Druid Hills and the match started out to be an affair of extreme courtesy with each player trying valiantly to give the other an advantage.

Both Mrs. Maddox and Mrs. Beck did everything but hit the ball on their tee shots and did likewise on their second. From there to the green it was a tale of missed shots with Mrs. Beck missing one less than her opponent to take a seven to Miss Maddox's eight.

Being true believers in reciprocity among friends the opponents reversed the process on number two and Mrs. Beck took the eight while Miss Maddox was carding a seven. The process became monotonous, however, after the second and from that time forward the ladies played with respectability and occasionally brilliant golf.

The fact that Miss Maddox carded a 40 on the back after turning the front in 17 indicates that she was in form. Mrs. Beck had a total of 98 strokes, which is not playing golf as well as she knows how by any manner of means.

The cards:
Miss Maddox—874 455 635—47
Out 544 544 437—40—87
Mrs. Beck—786 355 555—49
Out 756 355 677—49—98

While this duel of golfing melody was being warbled at Druid Hills, eight ladies of Ansley Park were singing the song of the birdie in chorus. Mrs. Carlyle Fraser (the lead) and the others came in at intervals.

Truly, the golfing hymn of Mrs. Fraser was most harmonious at times and never far off key. Her card of 88 is evidence of the fact that the melody of golf is really simple to sing after all. Her handicap was 13 strokes, which gave her a net of 75 to win the balls offered as first prize in Class A.

Miss Lucy Marvin Adams, the only other Class A player on the list, hit too many discords with her putter and came in with a 93. Her handicap was 17 strokes which made her net 78. She takes the runner-up prize.

In the second class Mrs. Jesse Wright, who learned to shoot golf by shooting clay pigeons at the gun club, sang her tune of birdie pars to win the prize with a net 78. Mrs. Robert Haskell, whose golfing skill is only surpassed by her beauty, was runner-up with a net of 81. They were the only two Class B golfers on the list Tuesday.

Third flight honors went to Mrs. C. Clower who turned in a sensational score of 77 net. Some of the scores were shared by Mrs. J. J. Harvey and Mrs. Mark Larned who turned in tie cards of net 80, while the fourth member of that class was Mrs. E. H. Burton who carded net 90.

Tuesday was the first "ladies' day" of the season at Ansley Park and the next event of that type will take place on Tuesday the twenty-third.

On Sunday next the game at Ansley Park will display its athletic tendencies by going back to the days of the Scotch foursome. The ladies of the Ansley Park Association will draw for partners among the gentlemen and they will play for prizes. The drawing, needless to say, is to prevent wives and husbands playing together with the accompanying domestic battles.

Dispatches from the front indicate that battle lines are being tightly drawn in the vicinity of the Valdosta Country Club, where the team from that club will engage in a match with the Thomaston team on Thursday.

A victory by either one of these prime rivals in the Georgia-Florida golf league is just about as easy for the other to take as a bottle of beer when a man needs a stimulant.

John Oliver, University of Georgia ace, will not be at home today with the Valdosta team Thursday but they hope to present a formidable front without him. Thomaston hopes they won't, and there you have it.

ASHLAND WINS OPENER, 15-13

Vienna, Only Georgia Entry at Chicago, Goes Into Action Tonight.

Chicago, April 2.—(AP)—Ashland, Ky., opened the defense of its 1928 National High School basketball championship tonight by defeating Independence, Mo., 15 to 13.

Utilizing the same slow-breaking offense that carried them to national honors last season, the Ashland boys eked out the two-point victory when Independence missed many crisp shots in the last half. The Blue Grays boys were also missing their share of the shots.

That was the big game of Tuesday's round. Tomorrow will see some strong teams facing each other in the second round. Among these will be Vienna, Ga., and Johnson City, Ill., two strong favorites to win the tournament.

Other results of Tuesday: Hannagatuck, Conn., 36; St. Paul, Neb., 31; South, Ky., 48; White River Junction, Vt., 38; Newport News, Va., 30; Miles City, Mont., 16; Lakeland, Fla., 31; Valley City, N. Red Boss Blocks Deal for Gooch price is ready if Wilbur Good wants the player.

Wilbur Good's noggin is considerably experienced in the baseball business. He knows that if one does not look a gift horse in the mouth he may have some dental bills to pay. Wilbur Good keeps wondering why no one else but the Crakers were after Irish Meusel.

And he keeps wondering if the stories about Meusel's lame throwing arm are true. Then, too, Meusel is a gambler and there is considerable gamble about it. Hence the delay. They have not yet decided whether Meusel is worth it.

Shinners Deal Dies.

All is not beer and skittles in the baseball racket. Nor is it skittles and beer. For instance one of Wilbur Good's teams is the Crakers and with a blunt instrument late Tuesday. He had hoped to acquire Ralph Shinners, outfielder, from the Leafs.

The deal was about made when it was blocked by one of those stubborn streaks one runs into so frequently. Wilbur Good was a cast down.

And why not? Ralph Shinners hit well over .300 and fielded well for the Leafs last season. He would have won easily away with the Crakers.

He has hopes of salvaging a player or so from the Brooklyn club in spite of the fact that there has been no great hurry or inclination to aid on the part of the Dodger outfit. Max Rosenfeld may be left here when the Robins come through. It seems that Mr. Rell J. Spiller and Your Uncle Wilbur have broken bread together, struck hands and all that sort of thing. And Mr. Rell Spiller has faith in Your Uncle Wilbur.

He that as it may, do not be surprised to find the Crakers in league with another major league club if the Dodgers fail to produce.

Meanwhile the Crakers were preparing to send Dick Bonelly and Ralph Griffith against the Reds in the Wednesday afternoon game, which was scheduled to get started at 3 o'clock.

Jack Hendricks, called Jack because his name is John, will start Charles Fred (Red) Lucas against the Crakers. It is quite possible that Charles Fred (Red) Lucas will be permitted to go the full nine innings.

It was Jack Hendricks' opinion that his brilliant little pitcher is too fat and needs work.

Jack Hendricks was joining Wilbur Good in the moan for more punch. Hendricks, however, felt that he had enough speed to win. "If you have the speed and the pitching you don't need so much punch," he said, "and we'll have all that."

Hendricks will have more starting pitchers than any other manager in the National. In addition to Lucas he has Eppa Rixey, Pete Donohue, Adolph Lague, Jackie May and three promising young pitchers. Ken Ash and Sid John are his two spring phenoms.

Johnson has pitched 18 innings this spring and has permitted but three hits.

The Reds move out Wednesday night and will be followed by Buffalo.

Crackers Drop Leaf Final, 3-2

college teams the series with the Leafs was somewhat productive of encouragement. A couple of ball players would make the Crakers. And none of the other clubs are "made" as yet. There never has been such a waiting on the crumbs from the major league table.

Archie Yelle did a good job of work catching. He directed his two recruit pitchers in good fashion, kept them cool and never once let them get hurried or rattled out there on the hill.

Not only that, but Archie Yelle had eight putouts and five of them were strikeouts. He was having the kids pitcher very smartly indeed and they responded well. They were throwing nothing fat up to the plate and the game was a ball game that might have gone either way.

The Crakers really had little opportunity to deliver in the pinch. Bill Marriott, whose lucky lick in the eighth transported him all the way to third base, was left stranded there but then two more went home when he got his hit.

Pinch Hitters Fail.

Wilbur Good tried a couple of pinch hitters in the ninth: Pat Haley hit for Augustine, who relieved Yelle after the fifth, and Blenheim swung for Brice. Both pinch hitters struck out, much to their disgust. Guy Cantrell was bearing down. His weakness of the seventh was all gone. He was apparently just making his job safe and the Crakers happened to be the boys who had to take the rap. He will be proud to have no harder all this summer.

The Leafs got off to a one-run lead in the second after almost breaking through in the first. Chilton's second

Prep Race Opens With Four Games

Tech High, U. S. B., Cadets and Boys' High Win Opening Round Games.

Favorites in the 1929 prep league baseball race came through the opening round of games Tuesday afternoon when Tech High, and U. S. B. and Boys' High won their initial games of the season. G. M. A. lost to Marist in somewhat of an upset.

Results of the opening round of the city prep league season follow:
Tech High, 12; Fulton, 4.
Boys' High, 15; Russell, 2.
U. S. B., 8; Decatur, 4.
G. M. A., 2; Marist, 6.

Though the games ended with rather low scores they were well played and interesting. Most of the losing teams saw action for the first time this season in Tuesday's round but showed plenty of fight.

Smithies Beat Fulton in Opener.

With Neville Everett twirling for the Smithies, they plucked an easy victory from Fulton High at Brinslie park. Everett allowed the opposition only five hits and slammed out 14 points. Pitcher, team mate, scored 2 points to run second.

The Junior High boys were completely outclassed in every race with the exception of the 88-yard relay event. Eight events were chalked up on the Purple rats' side of the score sheet.

Hughley was high scorer of the day. This B. H. S. flash took two first places and one second and bagged a total of 14 points. Pitcher, team mate, scored 2 points to run second.

60-Yard Dash—Hughley, B. H. S., first; Fulton, B. H. S., second; Moore, Joe Brown, third. Time, 7.5.

100-Yard Dash—Hughley, B. H. S., first; Fulton, B. H. S., second; Shahan, Joe Brown, third. Time, 17.

440-Yard Relay—Won by B. H. S. Time, 1:14.

880-Yard Relay—Won by Joe Brown. Time, 1:14.

Marist Loses To G. M. A. Cadets.

Marist handed the G. M. A. Cadets defeat in a game of tough tilt at Marist field. Holt, of Marist, was the best for his team as he struck out eight men and scored a run himself.

For G. M. A., DeJarnette was the outstanding player, making two hits out of three trips to the plate. His fielding on the third base was quite commendable as he assisted in three putouts and was always on the jump.

Clark, in the box for G. M. A., hurled a great game, striking out ten men and walking only one.

U. S. B. Pulls Away To Beat Decatur.

The tilt between U. S. B. and Decatur along closed until the fifth inning when U. S. B. pulled away with five runs after going on a hitting spree to win, 8-4. The issue was always in doubt until the game was over.

U. S. B. bagged ten hits off Decatur hurlers to prove it a heavy-hitting crew. Fairly good fielding was the rule with U. S. B. making six errors and Decatur four.

Russell High Swamped by B. H. S.

Hitting hard and frequent, the Boys' High Hurricane hung up a 15-2 victory over the Russell High nine from East Point. All went well with the lads from East Point during the first three innings and then the fireworks of the Boys' High barrage began and continued for the remaining five frames. The Maroons from Russell High pushed over a lone run in the second chapter when Byrd came in on Hankin's seat to short. Cantrell another tally was made until the ninth when a belated rally was staged that netted only one run.

strikeout in that first inning choked off a score. He whiffed Whitehouse with two on base.

In the second Ralph Shinners singled. He attempted to score on Cote's double but was caught at the plate on a smartly played relay from left field.

If Maurice Archdeacon's arm is weak there was no evidence of it on the play. He snapped up the ball and shot it straight to Bill Marriott, who in turn lined it in to Archie Yelle. They nailed Shinners to the mast a foot away.

Bad Break.

Marriott had a bad break on the next play and it paved the way for the first hostile tally. Steve O'Neill slashed one down to third and Marriott attempted to catch Cote off second. Cote hustled back and beat the throw. Cantrell struck out, but Joe Rabbitt came through with the first of his two singles to score Cote.

The Crakers were just a half dozen or so other fellows in those first two innings. Frankie Zoller got a single in the first inning, but was left to perish alone, stranded on a canvas sack. Or maybe he was left holding it.

The Leafs cashed the very first free pass issued by Frank Chilton. With two men safely out of the way, Whitehouse was walked. He stole second and scored on Shinners' lead to left field.

The Craker uprising came in the third. They got two runs with hustling baseball and not anything resembling a base hit.

Yelle walked and Chilton put down a perfect sacrifice, roller that almost stood before on his ear. He got it with a great try and with a looping underhand throw nicked the pitcher at first. Yelle could have toe-danced to second. Cantrell, last in some fond thought about how kind-hearted the supreme judge of baseball is to set poor pitchers free, issued another walk, this one to Archdeacon.

The Break.

Then came the blow-off. It was a heart-halt ball to Whitehouse that turned the trick. The second baseman took it, juggled it in his hands like a hot potato, and tried to throw before he had it. It went skyling over Sweeney's head.

Archdeacon and Yelle sold out. They came home like it was threatened to rain and they out in one of these likely to shrink suits. Cantrell promptly walked Poole, greatly to Steve O'Neill's disgust, but he tightened up and Bill Marriott popped the baseball up to left field and Shedy caught it.

The Crakers were on the first base in the fourth, but Archie Yelle was left there. They were three up and three down in the fifth and sixth. In the seventh Cantrell wobbled a bit. He walked Brice and his Archdeacon. Nothing came of it and nothing came of that stout triple by Bill Marriott in the eighth. The ninth was devoid of hope. Or anything resembling it.

It was Guy Cantrell who started things in his own behalf in his own half of the ninth.

Swanson, Red Star, III Here

Ever Swanson, recruit outfielder from the Pacific Coast league, who has been making a strong bid for a regular berth in the Cincinnati Reds' outfield, was unable to practice Tuesday because of tonsillitis. The remainder of the squad worked out for two hours under a hot sun. Red Lucas will start today's game against the Atlanta club.

Heat'n Wins Bowie Opener

Bowie, Md., April 2.—(AP)—The Heat'n, owned by C. H. Pierce, and carrying but 108 pounds, romped off with the inaugural handicap to open the spring racing season in the east today, beating the Sagamore stable's Nippon Life by two lengths. Mowles, the Hancocks stable's entry, finished third.

Two dollar mutual tickets sold $18.90 to win.

The field of 31 scheduled to start the feature event of the first day's card, was cut to 16 by post time, an even dozen horses being scratched during the afternoon. The race was worth $3,500 with the added money to the winner.

More than 10,000 persons, the largest opening day crowd in the history of the track, watched the seven events of the day's card run over a fast track.

Harry Payne Whitney's Swatter took the first race of the afternoon, a four furlong sprint for two-year-olds, colts and geldings, to pay $5.20, while Burning Glass, winner the second event of the day, six furlongs, for four-year-olds and up, paid the high price of the opening, two dollar tickets paying $20.50.

BULLDOGS PLAY TIGERS FRIDAY

Georgia Will Invade Clemson for 2 Games; Faces Auburn Next.

Athens, Ga., April 2.—With four conference victories tucked under its belt, the Georgia baseball team will go after two more this week-end when the Red and Blacks journey to Clemson, South Carolina, to return an engagement with Joe Guyon's Tigers Friday and Saturday. Clemson was defeated twice in Athens a few days ago, 5 to 3 and 4 to 2.

Coach Bill White's nine will face some stiff opposition on next Monday and Tuesday when the championship Auburn team comes to Athens for two games. Baseball games between Georgia and Auburn always are good drawing cards since both teams are perennially in the fight for conference honors. Last spring the Bulldogs were nixed out in the race by the Plainsmen by half a game, as Georgia lost the last game of the season to Tech 3 to 2.

The Bulldogs mentor avowed that he was well pleased with the progress shown by his aggregation in the past several games.

NEW OFFICERS WILL BE INSTALLED AT JUNE MEETING

Mrs. Knox Elected President Of Atlanta Junior League

Mrs. John Knox was unanimously elected president of the Junior League yesterday afternoon at the meeting held at the Piedmont Driving Club, and serving with her during the forthcoming year will be Mrs. Charles Orme, first vice president; Mrs. Edward Van Winkle, second vice president; Mrs. Bolling Jones, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Foreman, Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, treasurer. The officers will be installed at the June meeting. Mesdames DeSales Harrison, Beverly DuBose, Lawrence Willet, Turner Jones and George Raine. Mrs. Edwin Peeples, honorary president for life, and Miss Margaret Nelson, past president, will also serve on the board, the other members to be appointed by the president. Mrs. Waldo Mallory acted as chairman of the nominating committee, which included Mrs. Bruce Woodruff, Mrs. Reginald Fleet, Mrs. Charles Black, Jr., and Mrs. J. D. Osborne.

Mrs. Knox succeeds Miss Margaret Nelson, who has been president of the league for the past year, and during her administration many creditable achievements have been launched and carried to ultimate success. It was Miss Nelson who suggested the idea of making a weekly contribution to The Constitution, under the caption "Junior League Jottings," published every Sunday under her signature, and patterned after the manner in which the Birmingham, Ala., league distributes its news. Mrs. Reginald Fleet will assume the editorship of this column hereafter.

Capable Leaders. Miss Nelson proved a most capable leader of an organization which sponsors philanthropic undertakings along with its social activities. During Miss Nelson's regime, the Henrietta Edson Memorial Hospital for Children was completed and the league assumed the cost of maintenance for the ward in the hospital. She also headed the movement to produce the "Wizard of Oz," in March at the Forsyth theater, in which the talented members of the league took prominent parts in the cast, and from which a splendid sum was netted for the treasury, and will be applied to this worthy charity sponsored by the young women. Miss Nelson suggested that the league offer a prize of $25 to advanced students at the High Museum for the best composition in the class, the award to be made in May.

Enviably Record. Mrs. Knox has made an enviable record as an earnest worker in the Junior League, developing every task given her in a most satisfactory and praiseworthy manner. Her book reviews in the Junior League Magazine, the national publication, edited by the association, have placed her name in the ranks of the most brilliant writers, whose names appear in the bulletin. Mrs. Knox has served as first vice president during the past year, her special duty being to keep a record of the hours of service each member contributes, 108 hours being the sum total required yearly. She is a daughter of Mrs. Paul Goldsmith and the late Mr. Goldsmith, and she is a namesake of her beloved grandmother, the late Mrs. John Fittin. She was formerly Miss Marianna Goldsmith.

Mrs. Turner Jones was selected to represent the Atlanta league with the new president, Mrs. Knox, at the national conference of the Associated Junior League of America, which

Fifth District Executive Board Adopted Resolutions Yesterday

Fifth district executive board of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs adopted resolutions affecting many activities, at the all-day meeting held yesterday at West End Presbyterian church, with the Civic Club of West End as hostess club. Mrs. Kate Green Hess, president, presided at the meeting, and the resolution presented in her name requested that individual clubs amend constitutions and by-laws, so that election of officers may be held in March in order that new officers may be installed before April meeting of the executive board and names be published in the year book.

Community Chorus. Mrs. Robert K. Rambo, chairman of community service, Miss Helen Knox Span, music chairman, Mrs. James R. Little, fine art chairman, presented a resolution comprising the plan in making the fifth district community chorus a permanent and helpful asset for the district.

As a tribute to the late Mrs. Frank Woodruff, Mrs. H. G. Hastings, Mrs. John Blount, Miss Rosa Woodberry presented a resolution expressing appreciation in the appropriateness of the action of the Kentucky Club in establishing a student aid loan fund and naming it the Scott Woodruff fund in recognition of the life and service of a member of this club. In view of the fact that the federal government has signified its intention of locating a soldiers' and marines' hospital in the south, valued at $2,000,000, and Atlanta has signified her intention for bidding for this valuable asset, the fifth district went on record as expressing heartfelt cooperation in securing this project for Atlanta. This bore the signature of Mrs. H. G. Hastings, president of Atlanta Service Star Legion; Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, president of the American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Stanley Moore, president of Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, and Mrs. R. K. Rambo, second vice president of Georgia Federation.

Important in Meaning. Important in its scope and meaning was a telegram read by Mrs. H. M. Nicholas, from Congressman Steele, a story of which is given in the news section of The Constitution, regarding architects' plans, construction bids, which will be advertised for in May and actual work, which will begin in June, on the Atlanta Disabled Veterans' hospital. Mrs. Nicholas is chairman of soldiers' relief for the district.

Resolutions expressing thanks to the press of Atlanta, to state headquarters, Miss Julia Sparks, secretary, to Miss Helen Knox Span, music chairman; and Mrs. Frank Miller, chairman of community chorus; William Butt Griffith, Mrs. Mary Griffith Dobbs and Fulton County Mandolin orchestra for music for the meeting; ex-Governor Clifford Walker for his address to the district, and to the Civic Club of West End Hostess Club.

Miss Betty Howard Is Lovely Honor Guest.

Among the attractive honor guests at yesterday's party series was Miss Betty Howard, of Denver, Colo., who is visiting her cousin, Miss Helen Alvis Howard. Miss Elizabeth Whitten was hostess at luncheon at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club and in the afternoon Miss Helen Howard entertained at a tea at the Piedmont Driving Club honoring this visitor.

Miss Whitten was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. James Whitten, and Mrs. John DuFree. Covers were placed for Misses Betty Howard, Helen Alvis Howard, Marion Calhoun, Susan Jones, Emily Ingels, Fort Scott Meador, Nancy Keeler, Marie McAfee, Jane Morrow, Charlotte King, Frances Barnwell, Eleanor Smith, Mrs. Whitten, Mrs. DuFree and Miss Whitten.

Miss Howard was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Clinton C. Howard, and a group of young schoolgirl friends.

Mrs. Thomas Swann To Visit Mrs. Rawson for Opera Week

Mrs. Thomas Swann, of Tampa, Fla., arrives in Atlanta Saturday, April 20, to visit Mrs. Charles A. Rawson, at her home on Palisades road during grand opera week, beginning April 22, with the Metropolitan Opera Company presenting a repertoire of exquisite operas at the auditorium. Mrs. Swann will be entertained at a series of parties during her visit, with Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman being among the first to entertain for this charming visitor. Mrs. Rawson and Mrs. Swann were classmates at Mount Vernon seminary in Washington, D. C., during their girlhood, and as Miss Margaret Gaines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Gaines, of Knoxville, Tenn., she often visited Mrs. Rawson, when, as a debutante, she resided with her sister, Mrs. Hinman, at her home on Fifteenth street. She will attend the first three performances of grand opera, including "La Roofine," "Aida" and "Manon," three of the most beautiful and brilliantly staged productions included in this season's program.

Beautiful Home Ceremony Unites Miss Elizabeth Gaston and Mr. Fish

Characterized by impressive charm and dignity was the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Frances Gaston, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Samuel Gaston, to Walter Iddings Fish, which was solemnized last evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents at 1516 Olympian way.

The Rev. Marvin A. Franklin, pastor of Park Street Methodist church, officiated, using the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and close friends of the bride couple.

The home was decorated for the occasion with quantities of fragrant spring flowers combined with palms and ferns. In the living room an impressive altar was formed of wood and ferns. In the living room an impressive altar was formed of wood and ferns. In the living room an impressive altar was formed of wood and ferns.

Preceding the ceremony an appropriate program of nuptial music was rendered. Mrs. E. M. Roberts, cousin of the bride, sang "All For You" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Miss Jessie Todd.

Following the wedding rehearsal Tuesday evening, Miss Mary Preacher and Dr. Russell Burke, whose marriage will be solemnized this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lloyd Preacher, on Ponce de Leon avenue, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lloyd Preacher, Jr., entertained at an elaborate dinner party at the Capital City Club.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Richard H. King. The bride was a picture of loveliness in her exquisite wedding gown of white moire fashioned with extremely long luscious and full skirt, with the graceful uneven hemline extending to ankle length in the back. On the left side of the skirt was a large tulle bow. The long tulle wedding veil was draped in cap effect and held in place by three strands of orange blossoms. White crepe de Chine sashes adorned with rosettes of tulle and orange blossoms were worn with the bridal gown and completing the costume was a bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies extending to the floor.

EVERYBODY ANSWERED "OH, CALL TODAY BUT THE SHAWNY GUY. 'NINE OF US OUGHT TO BE ENOUGH TO CATCH TWO PIGEONS,' SAID OUR CAPTAIN, SO WE ALL STARTED FOR THE OLD CHURCH.

THEY FLEW OUT OF SIGHT. "STRAIGHT AHEAD," YELLED JERRY. WE RAN FOR FIVE MORE MINUTES, THEN WE CAME TO A CLEARING. THE PIGEONS WERE ON THE GROUND, EATING SOME SCATTERED CORN.

SUDDENLY A MAN JUMPED OUT AND GOT THE PIGEON. HE LOOKED IT ALL OVER, THEN HE RUSHED OUT AND BY GILLY! HE GAVE IT TO US. GOSH! EVERYBODY WE MEET IS FOOLING WITH PIGEONS. I WONDER WHY!

Miss Louise Nelson And Mr. Eckford Are Honor Guests

Miss Louise Nelson and Erroll Eckford, whose marriage will be solemnized at a beautiful ceremony Saturday, were honor guests at the bridge-supper Tuesday evening given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady, Jr., at their home on Peachtree road. The hosts were assisted in entertaining by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady. Throughout the lower floor spring flowers were gracefully arranged in bowls, vases and silver baskets. The lace-covered table was graced in the center by a silver vase filled with purple and white iris with smaller vases of these lovely flowers adorning either end of the table. Silver candlesticks holding burning white tapers were arranged between the vases of flowers. The guests included 20 friends of the honor guests.

Lloyd Preacher, on Ponce de Leon avenue, Mr. and Mrs. G. Lloyd Preacher, Jr., entertained at an elaborate dinner party at the Capital City Club.

The bride entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Richard H. King. The bride was a picture of loveliness in her exquisite wedding gown of white moire fashioned with extremely long luscious and full skirt, with the graceful uneven hemline extending to ankle length in the back. On the left side of the skirt was a large tulle bow. The long tulle wedding veil was draped in cap effect and held in place by three strands of orange blossoms. White crepe de Chine sashes adorned with rosettes of tulle and orange blossoms were worn with the bridal gown and completing the costume was a bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies extending to the floor.

THOUSANDS WONDER WHY THEY SUFFER

Constipation Is Often the Cause—Prevent It With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first symptoms of constipation may pass by unnoticed. Headache, fatigue, bad breath, spotted complexion are some of the signs. If allowed to continue, serious results follow. For constipation ruins health, steals beauty and may cause serious disease.

Constipation must never be neglected. Rid your system of its poisons with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. Doctors recommend it because it works as nature works. Guaranteed—eat two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal. ALL-BRAN is 100% bran and

Woman Author Protests Rejection Of Naturalization

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Rosika Schwimmer, author and lecturer, whose application for naturalization has been rejected because as a pacifist she refuses to bear arms in defense of the government, has protested in a brief filed with the supreme court against being classed with anarchists.

Stating that she is 50 years of age and thus physically unable to bear arms should women be required to do so, she argues that she has the same right to naturalization as Quakers and others, because of their religion, are opposed to bearing arms. She had been victorious in the lower courts but the government appealed to the highest tribunal.

Miss Sarah Mills Tilton And W. H. Bagwell Are Married

Fort McPherson, April 2.—A wedding which came as a pleasant surprise to the members of the military contingent as well as to friends throughout the south was solemnized at a quiet ceremony Saturday evening at the Church of the Incarnation at West End, when Miss Sara Mills Tilton became the bride of William Harvey Bagwell with the Rev. Dr. G. W. Gasque officiating. The church was decorated with palms and ferns and with myriads of Easter lilies in their chaste beauty and tall cathedral candles shed a mellow glow over the wedding party.

The bride, who was given in marriage by John S. Moss, was very lovely in a navy blue ensemble of flannel with a blouse of grey georgette worn with an imported chapeau of navy blue straw. Her gloves, bag and hose were of grey and her flowers were a corsage of pink roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Bagwell's only attendant was Mrs. John S. Moss, of Atlanta, formerly of Savannah, the aunt of the bride. Mrs. Moss wore a green coat suit of French flannel and a beige hat trimmed with leaf green with accessories of beige.

Mrs. Bagwell who for the past four years has been a popular and efficient member of the army nurse corps on duty at the post hospital has a host of friends who are interested to know of her marriage. Mr. Bagwell who resides at Macon and holds a flattering position with the Macon hospital had Raymond Downing as his best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Moss entertained at a perfectly appointed dinner at their home on Oxford road in Druid Hills. Spring flowers in pastel colors made an attractive setting for the guests. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bagwell left by motor for a wedding trip through Georgia and Florida, and will be at home after May 1 at 123 Rose Park, in Macon.

Captain and Mrs. Robert Joerg, Jr., entertained informally at dinner at their quarters at the garrison Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Gertha Courie, of Eufaula, Ala., who is an Atlanta visitor for a brief two days. Pink snapdragons and sprays of old-fashioned lilac in a low crystal bowl made an effective centerpiece for the daintily appointed table. Covers were placed for six guests.

Captain and Mrs. Ralph E. Powell will entertain the members of their bridge club Thursday evening at their quarters at the garrison. The guests will include Captain and Mrs. Charles

THE MEDBURY FORT MURDER

By GEORGE LIMNELLIUS

STORY. Major Hugh Preece, of the Royal army medical corps, has just been transferred from Medbury to Fort Medbury, which is not far from London. He is about to leave his wife and child for a ride when Lieutenant Lepore is summoned. He has to stay and examine him. The lieutenant is suffering from a mild disorder and the major prescribes for him under extraordinary circumstances. The visit puts the major in a reminiscent mood. He recalls his first love, a girl named Priscilla, an actress on the London stage; then his being sent to West Africa, and his long absence from England.

A few years later Priscilla and Hugh meet at Medbury, where they spend the night. Priscilla, Preece remembers, was a girl of 19. Lepore in the hotel corridor as he leaves Priscilla's room in the morning.

INSTALLMENT XXVII. THE PHOTOGRAPH. On the big hole desk stood a framed enlargement of a snapshot. It showed the hair of the Roman as a child. The detective studied the childish face intently. With a sheet of notepaper, he covered the first half of the boy's face and then the lower. Suddenly he gave a stifled exclamation. Of course! He knew, now, of whom the child resembled him. A long shot, this! He seemed to be looking on the right. Though the child was born in early July, 1925. That peculiar gap in Lady Roman's movements had occurred in . . . late September, 1924, he remembered. He returned to his armchair, and lighting another cigarette, continued to study the photograph with absorbed attention.

"What did you say, Ripley?" Lady Roman paused on the top of the stone steps leading into the hall. The old butler had mumbled something as he had opened the door, but he spoke so slowly. Really, she thought, it was getting past his work. She watched him with exasperation as he deliberately mounted the steps. He held out a silver tray; on it rested a visiting card.

DETECTIVE INSPECTOR PATON, C. I. D. New Scotland Yard. Lady Roman held the card fastidiously between finger and thumb of a smartly gloved hand before allowing it to fall back upon the tray. "To see me?"

"Yes, your ladyship." "Very well. I'll see him at once. Show him into the west drawing room."

The butler inclined his head. "I beg pardon, your ladyship," he added. "The gentleman took the liberty of asking me if I was acquainted with a certain Major Preece." Again that gracious inclination of the head. Then he moved slowly across the hall towards the smoke room door.

"Thank you, Ripley," Lady Roman called after him. Rather touchingly, that. Old Ripley? Must have seen Hugh's name in the papers, and the telegram, of course. Wasn't giving anything away, though. Queried. Loyalty to the family, she supposed. She could imagine him putting that nosy Parker in his place!

"Keep your nerve, my dear," she addressed her reflection in the big cheval glass, "and you'll be all right." She threw her hat into one corner of the sofa, patted her thick, coppery hair, and, with a twirl of her skirts, seated herself in the other end of the sofa as Ripley announced: "Mr. Paton—your ladyship." She felt reassured as the first rapid glance took in the rather portly little man who stood bowing politely in the doorway, the traditional bowler hat of the Scotland Yard detective held before his stomach.

"Sit down, Mr. Paton," she waved a vague hand in the direction of a chair, and pushed a cigarette box towards him. "What can I do for you?" Paton assumed his most disarming air of candor. "You possibly read, Lady Roman, of the murder of Lieutenant Lepore at Medbury fort?"

"This note," the detective drew a piece of paper from his pocket and passed it to her, "came by the post on the morning of the murder. We have to pursue every clue, however apparently trivial," he continued suavely.

SALLY'S SALLIES POOR ME—I'VE BEEN TALKING ALL AFTERNOON AND I HAVE SO MUCH MORE TO TELL YOU!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE High Speed Byron.

A woman having an open mind is all right if her mouth isn't that way.

WELL—TOM—HERE'S GREAT NEWS FOR YOU—YOU'VE BEEN DOING TIME FOR A CRIME YOU NEVER COMMITTED—A PARTY NAMED HENRY J. AUSTIN HAS MADE A COMPLETE CONFESSION OF GUILTY—THE GOVERNOR HAS JUST WIRED YOUR IMMEDIATE RELEASE—YOU'RE A FREE MAN! I ALWAYS THOUGHT YOU WERE INNOCENT—

GO—AND GOD BLESS YOU—

"A rare stamp?" "Yes, first issue blue Martinique. I suppose you will find it among his effects, and I should be glad to know if."

"No doubt, the detective interrupted with a certain lack of manners: he felt annoyed with the woman putting up this palpable lie. "This interview, then, was merely in connection with the proposed sale."

"Exactly," she smiled sweetly. "My husband is such a difficult man where presents are concerned. He collects you know, almost everything: glass, prints, furniture, and he's a keen philatelist—he collects stamps, too; so I was very pleased to hear of this particularly rare specimen, which I happened to know he wanted."

"May I ask how you know Mr. Lepore had this stamp? Were you . . . acquainted?" the detective inquired, blandly.

Lady Roman allowed it to be seen that she considered the question impertinent. She replied with an air of knowing a special child, which Paton was not slow to note and to resent. "A mutual friend—a Major Preece, a very old friend of mine—told me about it."

Lady Roman was considerably taken aback. He had not expected Lady Roman to admit her long standing friendship with Preece so candidly. He was silent, considering what line to adopt. He felt up against a dead end. It was a plausible story; yet he profoundly distrusted it. How could it be tested? The stamp really existed. She had introduced Preece's name of her own volition. Was that bluff? Or had he built up an elaborate theory on too frail a foundation?

"Did Mr. Lepore come down here three weeks ago in connection with the sale of the stamp?"

"For the first time he had pierced her armor of cool indifference. She had not foreseen the question. She hesitated. What should she say?"

"Yes," she replied at length. "He came up to see me. We discussed the matter, and the sale was to have been completed this week. But I think he came for the stamp really; the negotiations regarding the stamp were incidental. It fell out conveniently."

Paton received a smile of satisfaction. She had lied there at any rate. Lepore had not come for the stamp, but he had not called at the house. Lady Roman had not known at the time that Lepore was staying in the village—indeed, she was, at that time, unaware of his existence. She had, however, obviously been aware of Lepore's visit when he (Paton) had asked about him just now. How had she known of it? The answer flashed across his mind. She had that moment returned from a meeting with Preece in London. That was it. He would confirm his guess as soon as he reached the Yard. Yes, it all fitted in; but he required some direct evidence. He determined to try the effect of a surprise question. "Where did you stay on the night of the 29th, September, 1924?" he demanded.

"I'm afraid," she replied, coldly, "I don't understand."

Paton felt dashed; this woman was either a consummate actress, with nerves of steel, or the episode had been an entirely innocent one. He had committed himself too deeply now to withdraw. "It has come to light that there was an unexplained gap—between the time you left here in the morning in question, and the time of your arrival at Harring—"

"Yes? But what is the connection, or what is supposed to be the link between that—fact, and the murder of Mr. Lepore?"

Paton writhed inwardly. "We—er—thought," he stammered, "—that is—we are trying to find out if Major Preece—"

Lady Roman sprang to her feet. "Startling! I quite understand," she exclaimed furiously, "resent your most important implication, and I shall see that the matter is represented in the proper quarters. Now, I think that is all." She pressed a bell. "Perhaps," she continued, coldly, "it will spare me any further intrusions if I tell you that on the occasion in question I stayed the night at my club—the Ladies' Parthenon—and went down to Harring the next day." GORGAS LABORATORY
DEDICATED AT PANAMA

Institution Founded in Memory of General W. C. Corgas.

—Panama City, April 2.—(P)—The Corgas Laboratory of Tropical Research, founded in memory of the late Major General W. C. Corgas, who served as chief of construction of the Panama canal by eliminating yellow fever along the isthmus, was formally dedicated today.

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, of Chicago, chairman of the board of directors of the Corgas Memorial Institute of Tropical Research, which is located in Washington, came here especially to take over the new laboratory and supervise the beginning of its work.

The building, which houses the laboratory, was built by the Panama government as a medical school, but was abandoned when the school was closed. The laboratory until permanent quarters can be obtained.

The American congress last year appropriated a sum of $500,000 annually to support the work, in which all Latin-American countries were invited to participate.

Dr. Herbert C. Clark, director of the laboratory, has had experience in tropical countries, including eight years in the Canal Zone.

Installation of laboratory equipment will require several months, after which research work will begin in earnest upon tropical diseases, especially malaria. Particular attention is being directed upon varieties of mosquitoes in different regions.

Atlanta's Exhibition Home Opens for Inspection Today

Located 826 Oakdale Road

IF you are planning or contemplating the building of a home, now or in the future, here is an opportunity for you to find a master builder's expression of quality construction with materials of the finest grade and workmanship of the highest character, a paramount factor.

This home, located in one of Atlanta's beautiful home sections, was built according to the desires and requirements of its owner, Mr. N. M. Yancey. Construction of every detail, from the very beginning to the final touch of completion, was supervised and directed by our competent and efficient staff of home-building specialists.

It is a distinct pleasure that through the co-operation of the owner, we are able to open this home for public inspection, beginning tonight at 7:30 p. m., and every day thereafter from 2:30 to 10 p. m., through Sunday, April 14th. You are cordially invited to visit the home for the purpose of making detailed examinations of the qualifying points of workmanship and building construction.

Built under exacting specifications for N. M. Yancey and open to the public for their inspection of quality material and workmanship by

ATLANTA REALTY & CONST. CO.

A visit will in no way obligate or subject you to solicitation. Our organization has been founded upon the satisfaction of the clients we serve and their recommendations have yielded a patronage of which we are justly proud. Our organization is complete in every respect and if your task is home-building, our departments beginning with the suggestion or drawing of plans to the completion of a home is at your command.

Your home, if it is what it ought to be, will be as individual as yourself. It will reflect your personality, your tastes, your preferences. It must meet your own particular requirements. Considerations which no one else knows anything about must enter into its planning.

It is our task to help you if we may, to make that picture real. We maintain an efficient architectural department for the purpose of assisting our clients. We also have suggestive plans and drawings of hundreds of modern homes that will help you in planning yours.

BACON DECLARES DEMAND GROWING FOR BETTER HOMES

Dwelling Is Completely Furnished and Equipped With Modern Heating and Electrical Devices.

Structure represents in ideal fashion the high standards of workmanship and material characteristic of better class homes constructed by his company, S. W. Bacon, sales manager of the Atlanta Realty & Construction Company. Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Bacon, declared that the fact that he has been able to secure it for ten days for demonstration purposes.

"It affords us the opportunity of showing the home-building public the superiority of the workmanship and materials which we always employ in homes of this type," he said, "and it gives prospective builders the chance of seeing the importance of high standards in these two particulars in the home of today. For this reason we invite the public to visit the home and profit by the helpful demonstration it will get in point of workmanship and material."

The home—which is completely furnished—has four bedrooms, a den, a living room, dining room, breakfast room, kitchen, two tile baths and a model combination basement and garage. Features of its construction are long-leaf pine lumber throughout, an ideal foundation, tile roof, beautiful plumbing fixtures, steam heat with oil-burner, electric refrigerator, electric stove and other electrical appliances, a radio, piano and many other in-built and appointment items that make it the last word in comfort, beauty and permanence.

YACHT MAYFLOWER SAILS FOR YARD AT PHILADELPHIA

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—The yacht Mayflower will sail today, but they set no presidential pennant flapping at her masthead as in the past.

The historic vessel, upon the decks of which notable have walked for more than a score of years during its service as the presidential yacht, is expected to arrive at the Philadelphia navy yard Wednesday. There it will be decommissioned in compliance with President Hoover's wishes and its trappings will be laid away, ready for some other chief executive who may desire the recreation afforded by a yacht.

Captain Wilson Brown, aide to President Hoover and commander of the Mayflower, will take command of the submarine base at New London, Conn.; Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, its medical officer, will be stationed in the naval dispensary here, and Lieutenant Commander Leo H. Thebaud, executive officer, will go to the naval academy. The other 178 officers and men of the navy and marine corps who made up the yacht's crew.

SECRETARY ADAMS WILL VISIT FLEET IN CUBAN WATERS

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Secretary Adams will travel on at least three ships during his visit to the scouting fleet at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, which is to begin this week. The destroyer Bainsbridge will take him from Miami, which he is to reach April 6, either to Guantanamo or to Guantánamo, where he will embark on the Flagship Wyoming to visit the fleet practice. On April 10 the light cruiser Detroit will take him for a visit to Guantanamo and the next day will take him to Miami.

RELEASE IS SEEN FOR SUSPECT HELD IN ARNOLD KILLING

While evidence against him was being investigated, Sam Norman, negro, of 231 Chestnut street, Tuesday night was held by police in connection with the murder of A. M. Arnold, money lender, who was shot down in his office by an unknown assailant several weeks ago. Detective John Lowe late Tuesday night said the negro probably would be released today.

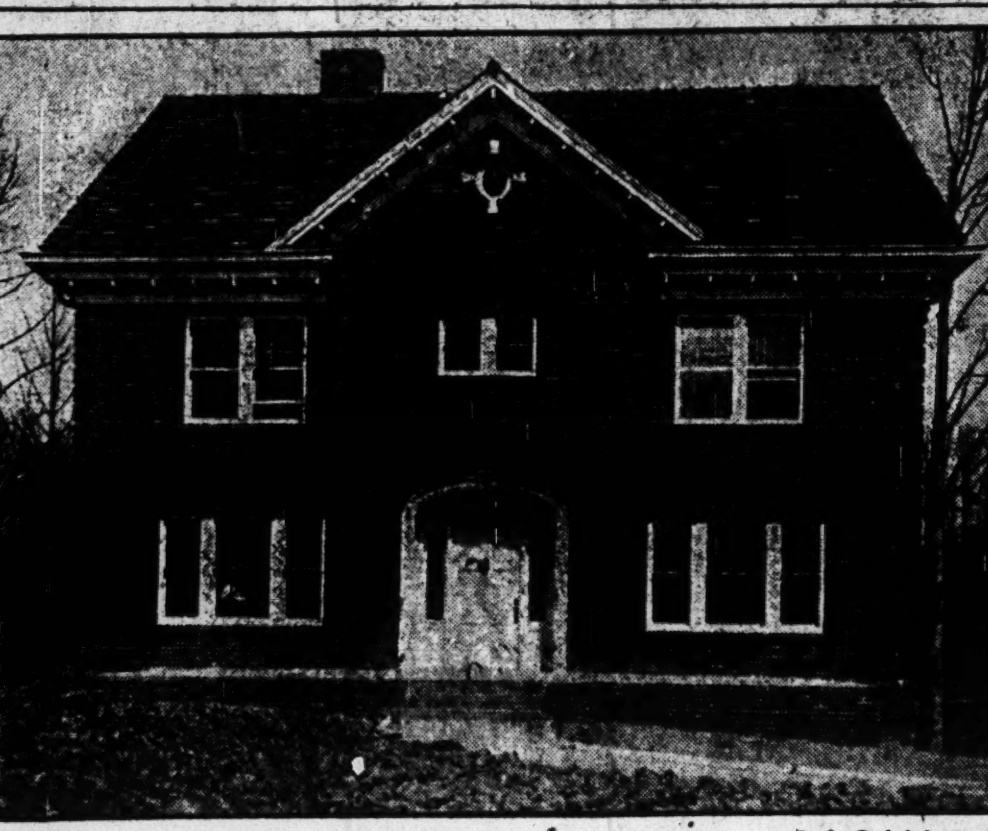

Man Whose Dozing Caused Fatal Wreck Charged With Murder

Greenville, S. C., April 2.—(AP)—C. M. Welch, of Asheville, was charged with murder in a warrant taken out here today by Sheriff Cliff R. Bramlett, of Greenville county, in connection with the automobile wreck on the Buncombe road early yesterday morning in which Mrs. Ben Lee Walton, of Tignall or Toccoa, Ga., was killed.

The accident, which happened at about midnight, occurred about half a mile in Greenville county. Welch, who is in a Hendersonville, N. C., hospital, said yesterday that he remembered dozing at the steering wheel of his car and the next thing he knew the car was careening down an embankment.

Edith Walton, little daughter of the woman who was killed, was uninjured in the wreck and escaped from the hospital to summer aid.

CHINESE NATIONALISTS CLOSE IN ON HANKOW

Shanghai, China, April 2.—(AP)—Nationalist government forces today continued to close in on the city of Hankow, stronghold of leaders of the Kwang military group.

Reports from the war zone during the past 24 hours were conflicting and have announced no decisive developments.

Both sides made contradictory claims. The nationalists declared that the capture of Hankow was imminent, but Hankow authorities maintained that the nationalists had not yet reached the town of Yanglo and were in the neighborhood of Hwangchow. Hwangchow is 35 miles east of Hankow and Yanglo much nearer. The nationalists announced that their gunboats had continued the bombardment of the Yangtze river shore line and planned to advance to the environs of Hankow tomorrow in an attempt to prevent evacuation of the city to the south of the river. This move, however, was considered premature.

President Chiang Kai-shek, who has been directing the nationalist operations at Kiating, was reported proceeding up the Yangtze river. He was accompanied by Colonel Max Bauer, adviser to the nationalist government and former member of the German general staff, who is credited with being the brains of the nationalist campaign.

LITTLE GIRL BURNED Child Stumbles Over "Live" Electric Wire.

Stumbling over a "live" electric wire on the ground while playing at her home Tuesday, Elsie Suddarth, 9 years old, of Chattahoochee, suffered burns about her hands. She was admitted to Grady hospital. Howard Stephens, small son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Stephens, of 902 Lake avenue, was treated at Grady hospital Tuesday after he is thought to have swallowed a small quantity of ground glass. Doctors found no evidences of the glass and the child was not admitted to the hospital.

Reynolds Aviation Company To Move To North Carolina

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 2.—(AP) George W. Orr, manager of Reynolds Aviation of North Carolina, Inc., announced here today that the entire equipment of Reynolds Company at Curdiss Field, N. Y., would be moved to the municipal airport here.

The move is a result, he said, of the sale of Curdiss Field by Richard J. Reynolds, former owner, to Roosevelt Field, Inc., New York. Complete shops and hangars will be erected here to receive the equipment now at the northern field, Orr said.

HAMPTON ROAD TRAINING CAMP SCENE OF BLAZE

Norfolk, Va., April 2.—(AP)—Fire at the Hampton Road naval training station early today destroyed three of the old frame buildings of war-time construction and badly damaged two others before the flames were brought under control, doing a damage estimated at $100,000.

The old frame structures, of highly inflammable material, burned like tinder and the fire had a strong start before discovery. To this momentum for the flames was added by a brisk southerly wind.

FRIGIDAIRE FEATURE OF EXHIBITION HOME

The exhibition home which opens tonight at 826 Oakdale road is equipped with a Frigidaire standard household model electric refrigerator supplied by the local branch of the Frigidaire corporation.

The Frigidaire is of all-porcelain cabinet construction and presents Frigidaire's latest innovation, the cold control. The handsome electrical device is installed in the exhibition home's attractive kitchen and is one of its most outstanding features.

"This exhibition home, designed to demonstrate the advantages of workmanship and material of the finer and better type, is an ideal demonstration point for the Frigidaire," officials of the local branch said Tuesday. "Frigidaire is needed in every home, and in the modern and better home of America it is as natural an item as is good construction and durable material."

HOOVER PURCHASES PLOW; PRESIDENT NOT THE BUYER

Washington, April 2.—(United News)—A Mr. Hoover of California purchased a plow, but it didn't turn out to be the president of the United States.

Two weeks ago word was received at the White House that a Willow Creek, Calif., storekeeper had sold a plow to one Otis Hoover, to be shipped to Orleans, Calif., far up in the mountains.

It was interesting that the plow had been ordered March 4, the day Herbert Hoover took the presidential oath. An old California friend of the president, who was a White House caller yesterday, cleared up the mystery. The plow was purchased by Theodore Hoover, the president's brother, who is dean of the Stanford University Engineering school, at Palo Alto, Calif.

Dean Hoover recently purchased a summer place at Orleans and ordered the plow at Willow Creek, to do some work on the site.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR FULTON ASKED BY COUNTY BOARD

Steps to protect against withdrawal of fire protection by the city from all Fulton county areas outside of the city limits May 1, were taken Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting of the Fulton county commission.

Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the board, appointed himself and Edward H. Inman, chairman of the finance committee, as a committee to confer with the city in an effort to have fire protection in the county continued.

The commissioners Tuesday considered further the matter of borrowing money to operate Fulton county until taxes begin to come in, but no definite action was announced following the executive session.

The regular monthly meeting of the commission will be held this afternoon, at which time the public will be afforded an opportunity to present petitions.

At Tuesday's meeting, the board adopted a resolution notifying the Georgia Power Company to repair the payment between the street car rails on Peachtree road from the city limits to Buckhead. The commission pointed out that the part of the public road occupied by the tracks of the power company has been in bad condition for months, and that the company's franchise provides that the traction firm is to keep the paving between the rails and two feet on each side in good condition.

DISABLED SOLDIERS' HOME BILL AGAIN BEING PLANNED

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—A bill to provide for erection in Florida of a branch home of the national home for disabled soldiers will be re-introduced in the special session of congress. Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, democrat, Florida, said today.

Senator Fletcher was the author of a similar bill which passed the senate last session, but it failed in the house.

Several communities in Florida, the senator said, are bidding for the building, including Miami and Tampa and the land probably will be provided free of cost to the government.

M. E. SOUTH, MISSION MEET OPENS AT MACON

Macomb, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Discussion by Rev. John Sharpe of the industrial mission in Columbus, Ga., a new branch of work of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, was a feature of tonight's session of the four-day conference of the missionary organization at the Mulberry Street Methodist church.

Rev. Mr. Sharpe outlined the work of the mission and told of its growth and its plans for further expansion. Miss Annie Peavy, missionary to Japan, and Miss Clara Howard, missionary to Korea, also made addresses, telling of their foreign work.

Mrs. W. G. Nunn, of Perry, president, delivered his annual address at this morning's session, declaring that the recent ratification of the Kellogg peace pact was "the most Christian event of all time."

Mrs. W. E. Strubbs reported that the South Georgia conference gave $65,000 to missions last year. A memorial tribute to Mrs. Robert W. MacDonnell, who died last year, was delivered by Mrs. J. O. A. Clark, of McRae.

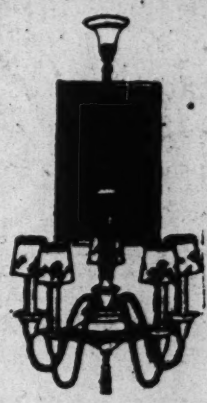

Mrs. M. A. Shaw, superintendent of mission and Bible study, reported that four societies of the conference received special certificates, the society so honored are: Ashbury Memorial, Savannah; Douglas, Ga.; city; Vidalia, Ga.; society, and Wesley Memorial Society, of Savannah. Attending the convention are 34 out-of-town visitors; 11 superintendents, nine district secretaries and four missionaries.

Counties Must Pay Transportation Cost In Misdemeanor Cases

Georgia counties will be required to pay transportation expenses of misdemeanor prisoners sent to the state prison farm at Milledgeville, it was announced Tuesday by the state prison commission. A ruling was received from Attorney-General George M. Naper in which it was held that counties are responsible for transportation expense to and from the prison for each misdemeanor prisoner also the county will be required to pay the expense of providing each prisoner with a new suit of civilian clothing when his term expires.

According to the ruling of the attorney-general the state will be required to pay transportation expense of prisoners convicted on felon charges. About one-third of the prisoners are in the misdemeanor class, it was announced. There are 700 prisoners at the prison now and of this total 204 are misdemeanor convicts. By requiring the counties to pay these charges the maintenance fund of the prison, amounting to $35,000, will be relieved of a burden which has caused the state considerable expense, it was stated.

MODERN HOMES require modern Electrical Servants . . . and so in the Exhibition Home opening tonight you'll find a modern electric range in the kitchen . . . a Westinghouse "Flavor Zone" Electric Range . . . the range that brings back all the flavor and goodness of old-time Dutch-oven cooking!

Dinners cook themselves in the "Flavor Zone" Oven. Too good to be true? Not at all—as you will be convinced immediately when you inspect this electric range. It's automatic . . . in various sizes and models . . . with the magic time and temperature control that eliminates basting, that allows cooking vegetables without water!

After you've seen this Westinghouse Electric Range come by one of our seven retail stores in the city, permit us to explain to you our special purchase plan on this appliance. Allow us to tell you of our Club Offer whereby you can buy complete electric appliance equipment for your home and pay for it over a long term of months.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

LIGHTFOOT THE DEER IS VERY HUMBLE.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

I know of nothing more forlorn
Than one of strength and beauty shorn.

—Peter Rabbit.

Early spring is the season of the wandering foot for a great many of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. This is simply a way of saying that they travel about a great deal. So it was quite natural for Peter to leave the dear Old Blarapatch and wander about in the Green Forest. Peter dearly loves the spring. For that matter, most people do.

Peter wandered about aimlessly through the Green Forest. Little plants were sprouting up everywhere. Now and then he would find an early blossom smiling up at him. He heard the long roll of Thunderer the Grouse and knew that Thunderer was drumming for the admiration of Mrs. Grouse. Everywhere about him were little folk preparing for spring house-keeping.

There was one place in the Green Forest that Peter kept away from and that was a certain lonely place where Hooley the Great Horned Owl and Mrs. Hooley had their nest. For nearly a month now there had been babies in that nest. They were fast growing babies and they required a lot of food. Peter knew very well that nothing would delight Hooley more than to be able to take home a Rabbit. So he kept away from that part of the Green Forest.

"I wonder that I do not see Lightfoot the Deer or Mrs. Lightfoot or one of the Lightfoots," thought Peter as he hopped along. As a matter of fact, he hadn't seen any of them since the middle of winter. Then he forgot all about the deer as other things drew his attention and awakened his curiosity.

So he wandered on and at last he came to a part of the Green Forest that was as lonely as the place where Hooley the Owl had made his home. Suddenly and unexpectedly, as Peter explored a thicket, he came face to face with Lightfoot the Deer. Lightfoot looked almost as much as a lightfoot as the name implied. He was as light as a feather and as quick as a flash. Peter jumped back and started off lippy-lippy-lip. Then, hearing no one following him, he stole back. Lightfoot was standing just where he had left him. Peter stared at him for a moment. Then a feeling as if he were in the presence of a stranger came over him. This didn't look like Lightfoot! There didn't look like Lightfoot! There was something wrong. Peter looked troubled. He tested the air with that wabbling little nose of his. That wabbling little nose told him that he was looking at Lightfoot. His eyes told him that he was looking at a stranger.

Peter didn't know which to believe. His nose or his eyes. It was settled for him by the stamping of a small sharp hoof and the command to come out of hiding. Lightfoot the Deer. "What do you mean?" demanded Lightfoot, "by frightening me half to death?"

The thought that he could frighten one who was so very many times larger than he tickled Peter. "I didn't mean to frighten you," said he. "I never knew you to be afraid of me before."

"It was the suddenness of your appearance," explained Lightfoot. "I'm very nervous these days. Every little thing makes me jump. Sometimes I'm almost ready to run from my own shadow."

Peter stared. Could this be the proud, fearless Lightfoot he had so often met? Could this be the Lightfoot who clashed his antlers against the trees and pawed the ground and feared no one save man and dogs and Hunter Bear? This was a very humble Lightfoot. Peter wondered why the Lightfoot he had met so often was so different from this one.

The next story: "Peter Misses Something."

Your Home and You

BY BETSY CALLISTER.

Once it was only the country dweller with a pronounced love for nature who was expected to know anything about birds. The average city dweller knew a sparrow from a robin and let it go at that. When he went to the country if he noticed birds at all he called all birds of a bluish cast blue birds, whether they happened to be jay or indigo buntings, and tanagers and cardinals were red birds just as starlings, crows, grackles, etc., were all black birds. Any bird with a yellowish cast was a wild canary—presumably swayed from a cage.

Now wherever you go you will meet an increasingly large number of people who really and truly know something about birds, and it is as important to have a bit of bird patter at the tip of one's tongue as it is to know something of the latest fashions or present tendencies in furniture. At any rate, if you do know something about birds, you are pretty sure to find yourself able to carry on your end of the conversation with a number of interesting people in any group you meet—on board an ocean liner or at a house party.

CANAL SECTION TO BE STARTED ON GULF COAST

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—The secretary of war has authorized construction work to begin on section 4 of the Louisiana-Texas intercoastal waterway between the Mermentau and Calcasieu rivers in Louisiana, a stretch of 37 miles. This action was taken by the secretary in view of the fact that local interests along that section have executed deeds conveying to the United States, free of cost, perpetual easements on rights-of-way over lands in certain parts of that section.

The right-of-way of 300 feet for that section was acquired by the government and a canal five feet deep with a bottom width of 400 feet was dredged as provided in a former project. This right-of-way is sufficient for the nine-foot canal of the present project, except at three places where changes in the alignment of the route were deemed advisable.

At these points the line of the canal will run through lands now acquired by the local interests. In addition to the grant of perpetual easements for the right-of-way, the owners of land adjacent to the right-of-way along the entire section have executed agreements granting the right to deposit dredge spoil on their property.

CARGO VESSELS ORDERED SOLD BY SHIPPING BODY

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—The shipping board today authorized the sale of three cargo ships and at the same time announced that bids would be asked on five tankers and eight other cargo steamers, the latter comprising the Gulf West Mediterranean line.

Two of the ships sold, the West Cherow and the Westland, went to the Sheward and Moore Lumber Company, Boston, for $117,000 and $132,000. The third, the George E. Weed, was purchased by the Flood Line, Inc., of San Francisco, for $20,000 cash. This boat is now laid up at Philadelphia. The West Cherow, now at Norfolk, and the Westland, now laid up at Mobile, along with the Westbrook, bought by the Boston concerns last week, will be placed in the intercoastal trade.

The sale of the five tankers, the Dilworth, Balducci, Baldhill, Menon and Hagan will mean the final disposition of the fleet of tankers that at one time numbered 143. The Gulf West Mediterranean Line, consisting of the Cardonia, Carlton, Jomar, Lafoma, Ogonts, Prusa, Sapierno and West Chatale, is at present operated by the Tampa Inter-

CARE OF HAIR KEEPS IT HEALTHY.

Some day it may be possible for every woman to have precisely the sort of hair she desires, wavy hair, straight hair, coarse hair, fine hair—hair of any color or shade. Through control of gland activities such things may be possible. Greater miracles than this have been achieved by science.

But in the meantime we must go along with the rather simple device at our command. With the exception of the permanent wave very little day-to-day hair treatment has been known for many years and the women of ancient Rome and Greece, of Babylon and Egypt improved the appearance of their hair much as we do today.

The greatest of all inventions in the care of the hair was undoubtedly the comb—and after that the brush. Imagine if you can what must have been the appearance of women's tresses before these tools were invented! It is unfortunate that the brush is not used more regularly and more thoroughly today. The days when it was the duty of every lady's maid to brush her mistress's hair for an hour a day—possibly twice a day—no more, yet women's hair was undoubtedly silkier and more lustrous when this was done.

The most important work done by the hair brush is to rid the hair of dust, to remove loosened hair and to distribute the natural oils of the scalp evenly throughout the hair, making it lustrous and silky. Hair that is markedly oily at the scalp and dry and brittle at the ends is hair that has not been regularly brushed.

The most important work of the comb is to keep the hair smooth and free from snarls and to give it ventilation. In combing the hair begins with an upward and outward stroke to raise the hair gently from the scalp. If this is done before an open window, so much the better. Roll comb and brush contribute mild massage to the scalp but this should always be of the gentlest sort. Brushes that actually scratch the scalp do more harm than good and combs should be coarse with very blunt teeth.

For the many readers who have asked for help in the treatment of enlarged pores this week's beauty help has been especially written. Treatment that has proved helpful in many cases is fully described and if you would like a copy please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send it to you at once. The Mirror of the Mode

BY MARY MARSHALL.

Most well-dressed women, I find, have strong prejudices concerning stockings. It is a subject concerning which it is rather difficult to speak without reflecting personal prejudice.

Quite a number of decidedly fashionable women in this country remain perfectly loyal to the beige toned stockings of the past—brown so dark that only by a stretch of the imagination can they be considered beige at all. At some of the French winter resorts black stockings—of the sheerest sort, of course, and sometimes with lace insets—have been worn with black evening gowns. Gray stockings have been worn with gray shoes and colored stockings have been worn with colored evening gowns.

If you want to be on the safe side and prefer to be ranked with the conservatives than the radicals in fashion then by all means stick to your beige.

If you would like to have a purse to go with one of your new frocks and want to have it at very small expense by all means make the purse yourself. It is not at all difficult to do this with the help of a short strip of patent fastenings of the sort that can be bought at the notion counter. The bag is made of silk or ribbon and is lined with lighter weight silk and interlined with canvas. If you would like full directions and a sketch of the bag when completed, please send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send it to you at once.

If you would like some of the following circulars just check them, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for them, and they will be sent to you promptly.

TENNESSEE SOLONS OVERRIDE VETO ON BUS MEASURE

Nashville, Tenn., April 2.—(AP)—The Tennessee general assembly went over governor Henry H. Horton's head for the second time today and passed a bill giving the public utilities commission the right to regulate bus companies. The house, after a five-hour debate, repassed the measure by an overwhelming majority despite the governor's veto. The senate repassed the bill last night. Senator Frank Hall raised the cry of an extra session in the senate when he charged administration leaders with attempting to keep the general

TEXTILE MILL STRIKES SPREAD IN CAROLINAS

3,000 Idle Workers Await Conferences Mill Owners To End Walkouts.

Charlotte, N. C., April 2.—(AP)—Spread of the textile labor strike wave into the Piedmont Carolinas to the Lenoir Mills at Gastonia, N. C., today found the approximately 3,000 mill operatives who walked out in South Carolina during the last 10 days awaiting conferences designed to end the difficulties in the Palmetto state.

Conferences between the officials of the Brandon corporation, committee of employers from three mills owned by the corporation, and Charles C. Wood, conciliator of the United States department of labor, was scheduled for tomorrow at Greenville. A conference held Monday resulted in progress, officials and strikers representatives said, and Mr. Wood announced before leaving for Elizabethton, Tenn., that the attitude of both sides was such that he expected an early agreement.

Strike Unexpected. The strike at the Lenoir Mills, which is operated by the Manville-Jacks Company, came unexpectedly today although there were reports from Gastonia last night that there was some unrest at the mills. Officials of the company asserted that they did not know what had caused the walkout and that no demands had been made on them. About 1,100 operatives were involved, only about half of the more than 2,000 employees of the company being at work at the time.

While there were reports that organizers of the United Textile Workers were working in the mill villages, there was no verification of this from any official source connected with the union. A woman claiming to be an organizer for the union was reported by representatives of strikers at the Brandon Corporation, Greenville, S. C., plants today but was told that the strikers were acting independently.

Strikers are orderly. The strikes which have been occurring spasmodically in different mills for the last three weeks have been orderly. There has been no disruption of any moment at any point, although pickets were stationed around the Lenoir mills at Gastonia today.

While representatives of the strikers planned conferences with the operators of the mills steps were being taken today to forestall any suffering among families of the strikers. At Greenville a relief committee was formed today and began soliciting funds and efforts to install so-called efficiency systems in the mills.

The recent strikes have been due almost entirely, officials and strikers say, to efforts to install so-called efficiency systems in the mills.

WOMEN WILL REPORT ON FLOOD DRIVE TODAY

Meeting Scheduled for 11 O'Clock at Chamber of Commerce.

Representatives of all organized women's clubs in the city, including the Parent-Teachers' Association, churchwomen, patriotic clubs, Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs and others, have been asked to meet at 11 o'clock this morning in Hall No. 2 of the Chamber of Commerce building to report on the work done in connection with helping the local chapter of American Red Cross to raise Atlanta's quota for the flood sufferers.

A mass card party under the direction of Mrs. Ed Pierce and Mrs. Howard McCutcheon will be given at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the assembly room of the Georgia Power Company and several hundred are expected to attend. A large number of attractive prizes have been donated by business firms in the city and more are being added daily. Tickets are already on sale for this event and may also be purchased at the door. The price is 50 cents each.

clothing and other supplies. A considerable sum in cash also was raised. The strike at the Lenoir Mills today brought the labor troubles into the most densely populated part of the cotton mill section of the Piedmont Carolinas. Gaston county has more than 100 individual cotton mills, including yarn spinning and weaving mills. There are a score or more of mills at Spartanburg, where the Woodruff mills, of the Brandon corporation, are closed by strike and approximately the same number at Greenville.

Many Mills in Area. Scattered about at various towns and cities, throughout the Piedmont section, are more than 400 cotton mills each having its own village in which employees live. Labor troubles have been few and far between in the mills of the Carolinas. Most of the workers are natives of the southern Appalachian mountains and they have in most instances in the past refused to join unions or any concerted labor movement.

The recent strikes have been due almost entirely, officials and strikers say, to efforts to install so-called efficiency systems in the mills.

INCREASE IN GRAIN RATES IS OPPOSED

Kansas City Southern and Other Lines Fight Move of Santa Fe.

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Application of the Santa Fe, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific railroads to increase rates on grain to Kansas City and Wichita when grain, consigned to gulf ports is not moved over one of these lines, was opposed in the supreme court today in a brief filed by the Kansas City Southern railway and others.

The proposed rates were ordered cancelled by the interstate commerce commission and the decision upheld by a federal court.

Defending the commission's jurisdiction over the controversy, the brief said the issue was one involving "the reasonableness and justice of proposed increased rates" and that the commission's order was "not arbitrary."

The port of Port Arthur would no longer be able to compete with Houston and Galveston in grain exports of one of these lines, was opposed in the supreme court today in a brief filed by the Kansas City Southern railway and others.

2,568 PERSONS DIE IN RAIL CROSSING ACCIDENTS IN 1928

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Reports filed with the interstate commerce commission by the railroads show that 2,568 persons lost their lives in high way grade crossing accidents in 1928, an increase of 191 over the previous year.

Persons injured in such accidents numbered 6,067, as compared with 6,612 in 1927.

TRAGEDY KILLS JOY OF MAYOR'S VICTORY

Little Rock Executive Goes to Funeral of Boy He Killed in Crash.

Little Rock, Ark., April 2.—(AP)—The climax of a short but colorful political career saw both tragedy and success crowded into the life of Pat L. Robinson today.

While voters were going to the polls to cast their ballots overwhelmingly for the 28-year-old city attorney for mayor of Little Rock, he sat on the front row of a church with tearful eyes attending the funeral of a youth whose death resulted from an automobile accident in which he figured.

Robinson's election as the youngest mayor of any city in Little Rock's history in the country, was little more than a formality, although he had an independent opponent, but the glory of victory had somewhat of an empty meaning for him.

An automobile collision at a downtown street intersection a few nights ago between Robinson's car and another, resulted in the fatal injury of Reeves Whitlock, 18, son of a police lieutenant. Whitlock's funeral was held today, with Robinson occupying a seat only a few feet from the casket.

The mayor-elect was so unshaken by the funeral that he postponed the announcement of various appointments which he had planned to make today.

An official act has been taken to fix responsibility for the crash, which Robinson has declared he was unable to avoid.

STATUS OF MELLON BEING DISCUSSED

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Investigations have found an overwhelming number of precedents to support President Hoover in retaining Secretary Mellon and Davis in his cabinet without sending their nominations again to the senate.

However, the senate judiciary committee which has been directed to inquire into their status under a resolution by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, will be called early in the morning to discuss the question of "letting Georgia out of the mud."
